The Editor's column

After spending an hour reading "What Happened in Springfield," issued by Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, we found few new laws to pass on to our readers.

Assessment methods as followed in Cook county are unchanged, but the assessing machinery in effect in Cook county was authorized for downstate counties.

No action was taken to remedy the present personal property assessment in Cook county. The new law tends to further force full assessment and collection in counties under 150,000 population.

State's Attorney Gutknecht's drive on personal property taxpayers who have not settled, starts next week. Judge Haggernis of Barrington has issued subpoenas for ten residents of Palatine to appear in his court where an assistant state's attorney will be present to prosecute.

The man who buys an automobile outside of the state to escape the sales tax is now out of luck. He cannot get a certificate of title for said motor vehicle without presenting evidence he has paid a "use" tax.

The Secretary of State will hereafter forward to the county clerk the name of applicants for motor vehicle registration for use of local tax officers.

It will be interesting to learn if the county assessor adds to his assessment list the names of all those Chicago car owners.

The school lobby failed in efforts to authorize increase in tax rates without a referendum. The schools were given an increase from state funds of $15 per pupil; $140 million voted for the common schools for the next biennium, an increase of $15.5 millions over the previous year.

We hope that the appropriation is big enough to take care of the stork activities in the Chicago suburbs.

Toll roads in Illinois are on the way by the passage of a bill authorizing their construction, which would be operated on revenue. A hundred years ago a toll plank road was in operation along Milwaukee ave.

Every effort of the Chamber of Commerce failed to place township roads into the county system. It also failed in its efforts to simplify the license plate system by the adoption of permanent plates.

The new drivers license law should keep off highways many dangerous drivers. Secretary of State will keep an accident record of every driver and will suspend or revoke licenses of habitual offenders. A speeding ticket in Arlington Heights will be recorded in the big book in Springfield.

Minors must be 16 years old before they can drive cars. If a hot rod driver is convicted of reckless driving three times within a year, it is manadatory that he lose his license.

There were a number of changes in the law covering unemployment compensation and social security. $600 must be earned in a year to qualify for benefits. An unemployed person will receive 25% of his wages in the two highest quarters of his last earnings year.

Municipality can force the annexation of subdivided area of ten acres or less, regardless of the wishes of the owner. Having placed the state legislature actions "on ice" we will return this column to local matters.

Due to shortage of labor, the local manufacturers are experiencing great difficulty in filling orders.

This is also true regarding office jobs, clerical workers, sales persons, etc. One woman quit her job the other day because one of her friends expressed surprise that she was working.

We will watch with interest the attitude of the boys and girls who become a part of the Distributive Education or Occupational plan for those who desire to enter the business world as soon as possible.

If such jobs are taken seriously by them, they will not only profit by salaries paid them, but get a year or two start on high school students who take the full high school college course.

Since the release of the Kinsy report on women in the newspapers and magazines, there can be no more secrecy about the facts of life.

Personally we question if his figures apply to this area. We can imagine a pause in the conversation at a sewing circle meeting, each woman present wondering to what extent Dr. Kinsey's deductions applied to her neighbor.

Is there any mother who has read the deductions of Dr. Kinsey whose daughter has a date for the evening, who will not worry a bit, hoping that her daughter is an exception.

We agree with the author that the home and the church are the greatest influence today for the kind of living that our Creator intended us to pursue. The activities of the home and church and kindred organizations could nullify many of the statements in that report.

Possibly the most attractive, certainly the most versatile room in the Readers' Choice house is the terrace room, the link between the two sections in the H-shape design of the Trude model home at Chestnut and Orchard on Arlington Heights' far south side. Open to the outdoors on two sides, the room is given year-round usability by sliding insulated window panels and sliding screen doors. The room is also open on third side, separated from the kitchen only by sliding glass panels.

READERS CHOICE HOME OPENS TO PUBLIC FRIDAY

National Magazine Presents Story To Entire Country

Arlington Heights will come into a measure of nationwide publicity Friday, when the September issue of Better Homes and Gardens hits the newsstands. This issue features on the cover, on seven pages of color photos, and on several pages of black and white pictures, its Readers' Choice house. The home shown in the photos was built at 215 W. Orchard st., by Trude Land Development Co.

The home will be open to the public, beginning Friday, and through mid-September. Following this, it will be one of the homes open for inspection in the Chicago Tribune's annual Chicagoland Home show. Proceeds from the ten-cent donation from viewers throughout the showing will be turned over to Paddock Publications, for distribution to the Arlington Heights Youth Activities Fund.

Although, as previously announced, the house was not formally opened for public inspection until today, approximately 700 persons viewed it last Sunday. This influx of visitors followed the publication in one of the metropolitan papers of a story about the house, a story which appeared in spite of the fact that editors had been requested to withhold publicity until today.

VARIOUS SPECIAL groups have had "preview" looks at the house during the past week. There have been tours for the home planning editors of newspapers serving the area, for suppliers whose products were used in the home's construction, for finance organization personnel, and for Trude home owners.

These groups, and the thousands of persons expected to go through the house in the next few weeks, see a house which is not necessarily revolutionary in itself, but contains many new, fresh, and highly livable ideas. It may stir up considerable controversy, for it is very different in exterior appearance from the majority of homes being built in this area at this time. But many visiting it will find valuable ideas which can be adapted into a home of any vintage—built-ins, new wall treatments, the emphasis on outdoor living.

MOST TALKED-ABOUT room in the house will probably be the terrace room, the connecting link in the H-shaped design of the whole. Feeling that an occasionally-used dining room didn't earn its way, the architects have designed this as a multi-purpose room. True, the dining table and chairs are here — but they may be pushed back when not in use, and the room used for a second living room. Two walls are in sliding Thermopane panels, floor to ceiling, and sliding screen doors, giving easy access to front or rear patio. If it is desirable to shut out the sight of snow, however, there are floor-length matchstick draperies, in white printed with an abstract design in turquoise, gray and black. Yellow upholstery on the dining set, white upholstery on a settee, and the warm tone of the stained redwood walls contribute to make this an extremely cheerful room.

On through the terrace room, visible from the kitchen if desired, is the play area of the novel children's room. Half of this 20x20 foot room is open for active play, the other half, closed off by sliding partitions, is divided into two sleeping rooms. The designers point out that there are numerous variations of this arrangement possible, to fit the needs of families with children at different age levels.

Pool To Close, Program Sets State Record

The superintendent of Arlington Heights Park district announced this week that the swimming pool at Recreation Park will close August 30.

This season more than 61,000 persons were admitted at the pool and this does not include the morning swim classes which had more advancements than in any other year in the history of the pool.

The record of 288 children taught to swim a minimum of 75 feet was broken this summer when 383 accomplished this feat. In addition 266 minnows, 166 fish, 61 flying fish and 22 sharks passed their tests. These, also, all exceed last year's figures.

A new rank called the "Water Bug" was established this year. The most difficult acquatic tests practical are included; among them the butterfly breast stroke, 75 foot under-water swim and difficult dives off the low and high diving boards. The four girls who passed this highest level of aquatic skill were Sandra Peterson, Judy Keppen, Joan Keppen and Jane Shaefer, all of whom are 12 years of age or under.

ART HOLLAND, director of the learn to swim program, received information from the American Red Cross, which helps to sponsor the program in conjunction with the park district, that Arlington Heights had the largest program in the state of Illinois. He says the reason for the success of the program lies with the park board whose efforts are constantly directed toward an improved summer recreation program for the youth of the community.

"Other important factors contributing to the success of the program are the outstanding efforts of all the instructors, the sponsoring of the Lions Olympics by the Lions club and the valuable assistance received from the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross," states Park Superintendent Thornton.

Wife Of Former Wheeling Twp. Road Commissioner Dies

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Mae Garms, Tuesday. She resided at 504 N. State rd. No funeral arrangements have been made at this publication. Mrs. Garms is resting at Lauterburg and Oehler funeral home in Arlington Heights.

Charge Tavern Owner With Contributing to Delinquency of a Minor

Charge against a tavern near Deer Grove forest preserve, Palatine, for sale of liquor to a minor and contributing to the delinquency of a minor by such sale will be heard Thursday before Judge Tuttle at Morton Grove county police station. The liquor was purchased by a 14 year old girl.

Police came into the picture when Officer Campeau of Palatine found two girls trying to revive a third in the Palatine depot. They had been "ditched" by two Palatine boys after a drinking party in Deer Grove forest preserve.

The girls and boys were taken to the Palatine police station, where they were turned over to the county police. Their story is that two of the girls from Chicago and Ravenswood airport had met an Arlington Heights girl who possessed a half pint of whiskey. They journeyed to Palatine where they picked up the two boys. After consuming the liquor at hand, the 14 year old girl, who is rather large for her age, entered the tavern and acquired a new liquor supply. When one of the girls "passed out" the Palatine boys became alarmed and took their companions to the Palatine depot.

Ax to Fall Next Month on Tax Delinquents

The first cases against delinquent personal property tax payers will go to trial early in September in the court of Wm. Webber. An assistant state's attorney and a court reporter will be present to give the judgments entered a status that will make them liens against property of the person being sued.

Delinquencies of the past three and four years will be combined in suits that are started.

Driver Training Program Begins September 10

The driver training program for adults given by Arlington Heights high school will begin September 1 for students desiring individual instruction by the hour upon appointment.

Many calls have been directed to the high school office in regard to this program which is offered every year to adults in the community who want to qualify for a driver's license. Legislation passed at Springfield this past spring has raised the age from 15 to 16 for securing a driver's license.

Each fall there are more applications for adult instruction than can be handled immediately, which necessitates preparation of a waiting list. Those individuals desiring information on private instruction can call the high school office during business hours and be placed on the list for fall instruction. It generally requires from four to six weeks to qualify a driver so that he can pass his driver's test.

INSTRUCTION is available on both gear shift models and automatic transmission driver training cars which are equipped with dual controls for instructional purposes. Last year almost 100 adults were given instruction in the fall term.

A driver traiing class will also be offered in the Adult Evening school consisting of ten hours class instruction plus ten hours in the driver training car Saturday with another student in the car which gives the pupil five hours behind the wheel, and five hours observation of his partner's driving. These students will be ready for their driver's license examinations sometime in December.

The driver training cars are made available by the automobile manufacturers through the cooperation of local dealers. They are not owned by the school but are leased to schools having driver training staffs for instructional purposes. This is done primarily for the high school program which each year trains 200 to 300 teen-age drivers. All adult instruction is given outside of regular school hours. A staff of six trained instructors will be used this session for driver training instruction of both high school and adult students.

REGISTRATION for individual instruction will be placed on file in the order in which they are received. Registration for the driver training class in the Adult Evening school will be held during the week of September 21 with instruction beginning September 30.

Tax Deadline Saturday

Saturday, August 29, is the deadline for payment of the second installment of the 1952 taxes to the township collectors.

The local collectors are closing their offices with the close of business Saturday so that they can get the books posted in the County building and make their report to the county treasurer by penalty date September 1.

There are only a few days left to get those second installment payments to your local collector. so if you haven't already done so, get busy before the Saturday deadline.

Schools open next week and all the school boards are hard pressed for ready cash and are waiting for the tax collectors to make their distribution of second installment funds. The more that is paid to the local collectors, the sooner it reaches the respective taxing bodies.

Saturday, the 29th, is the local tax deadline penalty date at the county building September 1.

350 Trude Homes In Arlington Heights

William Trude, of Trude Land Development company, who was chosen by Better Homes and Gardens magazine to build their Readers Choice home in this area, has become a familiar figure in Arlington Heights during the postwar years. What were acres of south side prairie four or five years ago are now block after block of attractive Trude homes.

The first house built by Trude was at 726 South Dunton ave. Since then he has put up more than 350 homes. There are a few each in Sherwood, Stonegate and Scarsdale, but the majority, over 300, are on the south side. He has approximately 30 homes under construction currently, and begins, on the average, one-and-a-half new homes a week. He has 90 more sites for building, and holds options on an additional 60.

Employed in the Trude organization, which has its offices at 714 S. State rd., are 40 persons. Approximately 30 of these are residents of this area. In addition, much of the work on Trude houses is done by local firms on a sub-contract basis.

The bulk of the construction being done currently, Mr. Trude states, is on the ranch type, one story house. However, he attempts to retain the character of the block in which he is building, so that several houses now being built are of two-story design, to conform to homes already in their immediate vicinity.

At present, Trude Land Development has 30 designs to present to clients, in a price range from $18,500 to $30,000.

Youth Hit by Car, Three Minor Accidents

Three minor automobile accidents in Arlington Heights resulted in property damage only this week. However, a 4-year-old Arlington Heights boy was hit by a car at Park and Vail sts. Tuesday morning.

The boy was found to be all right by a local doctor.

The cars driven by Margaret Scheppman, 31, Mount Prospect, and Foster Vassar, 39, Arlington Heights, collided when both were going east at about 708 E. Kensington rd. August 20 at 11:15 p.m.

Gordon Brewster Johnson, 27, 113 W. Eastman, Arlington Heights, fell asleep while driving the morning of August 22. His car climbed the curb and struck a tree at 129 S. State rd. No injuries were sustained.

An 18-year-old Arlington Heights girl backed out of a parking lot on the west side of Dunton st. August 21 and hit the car being driven south on Dunton by Arthur C. Haldeman, 51, Gaynor Park. The accident occurred between Davis and Campbell sts. and only property damage was involved.

The teenage boy, who last week struck three speed zone signs and state barricades on E. Euclid ave., was fined $100 and court costs by Judge Neumann Tuesday night. In addition his driver's license was suspended for 30 days and he paid $42 for damage to state property.

Discover Midnight Is Dangerous Time to Investigate Strange Cars

Four Palatine boys, all teenagers, learned near midnight Sunday that Deer Grove forest preserve can be something more than a love tryst. When a second car stopped near them, one of their number thought that he recognized one of the girls in the other car which was occupied by three couples.

When he approached a snub nozed revolver was flashed at him. In reporting the incident they gave license number 1,247,-020. It was issued to an Arlington Heights resident. The license number had been switched from a Buick to a Ford convertible.

New Shopping Center Grand Opening Set

There'll be dancing and general merriment at the grand opening of the New Shopping Center at State rd. and Northwest hwy., Friday, August 28. Balloons for the children and souvenirs and prizes for older folks will be given away by the merchants.

Music will be broadcast from the store fronts, and, weather permitting, there will be dancing in the parkway directly in front and along the sidewalks.

The shopping center was completed early this summer and was built by Arthur C. Jacobs on the site of the former home of Richard Jahn, retired fire chief of Arlington Heights. The six stores are occupied as follows:

Bill & Bert's Bootery, specializing in children's and teen-agers' shoes;

The Beauty Bar, Arlington Heights' newest beauty salon;

Breda's Luncheonette, plate lunches, steak, sandwiches and fountain service;

Terri Lee Specialties, featuring popular-priced and nationally-advertised children's and ladies' clothing;

Harold E. Nebel Agency, auto, life and fire insurance;

Arthur C. Jacobs, Inc., builder of homes.

Arrest Arlington Woman, Violator of Mann Act

An Arlington Heights trailer camp resident was arrested August 19 by the FBI and arraigned before the Judge Bentley Pike on the charge of violating the Mann Act.

The hearing was continued until August 24. She and her sister were charged with transporting three girls from Wisconsin to Illinois for immoral purposes.

The girls, one of whom is a granddaughter of one of those arrested, escaped from a school for incorrigible girls in Oregon, Wis. The girls were picked up in Calumet City and returned to the school January 29.

The Arlington woman said she was driving here to join her husband who is working as an electrician in Mount Prospect. She picked up the girls, whom she claimed not to know, and said that just before she came to the state line, she had motor trouble. The girls got out and walked across the state line and she later picked them up again in Illinois.

The United States commission charged that she knowingly brought the girls across the state line.

Continue Rape Case to Complete Mental Exam

The case of the 15-year-old Arlington Crest youth, who brutally assaulted and raped a 6-year old Arlington Heights girl August 14, will come up in Juvenile court August 28. The state will then ask for a continuance to complete their psychiatric examination.

The same youth has been charged with attempted rape of a 9-year-old Arlington Heights girl the first week in August at the recreation park.

The little girl and her 4-year-old brother were playing in the park, when this youth and his brother approached them. The older boy forced the girl to the top of the tobaggan slide, and the younger one kept the 4-year-old at the bottom. Mud was smeared on his face to keep him from crying.

The girl broke away in spite of the boy's threats to push her off the top of the slide. The youths rode away on bicycles.

Arlington Housewife Returns to Modeling For One Day Only

Friends will recognize Mrs. Mae Claire Franzen, 819 South Beverley lane, as the model setting the table in the terrace room, in one of the color photos appearing with the Readers Choice home article in the current Better Homes and Gardens.

When the photographers came to get the pictures, early in April, they decided they wanted a young woman, preferably with long blonde hair, to be used in a shot of the dressing table, and in other photos. Someone suggested Mrs. Franzen, and she was secured for the assignment.

What the photographers didn't realize is that they were obtaining the services of a professional model, for Mrs. Franzen did commercial photography modeling before her marriage.

Ask All Not Contacted for Census to Return Blank

Clara S. Henderson, census supervisor for the U.S. Census Bureau, said this week that the 13 enumerators she employed to take the census in Arlington Heights are completing their job.

The purpose of the special census is to obtain the latest count of residents which will make the village eligible for a greater share of state funds allocated on the basis of population.

Those who have not been contacted by the census takers, but have resided in Arlington Heights since August 20, are asked to fill out the blank which they will find on the inside of this paper and return it to the village hall.

Information the census takers require is the names of the entire household and their relationship to the head of the house, ages, sex and race.

All information is strictly confidential. Only sworn census employees will see the returns.

Break All Records for Pictures This Week

The publishers of this paper have become accustomed to breaking records, but a new one is being hung up this week. More pictures appear in this issue than have ever appeared in one issue of Paddock Publications. So many compliments have been received about the picture page that it will be continued as long as space permits.

The receipt of 45 new subscribers in one week is not unusual, but it shows increasing reader interest.

Property Owners Seek Vacation of Grove Street

Arlington Heights Plan Commission has been asked to give its approval to the vacation of two blocks of Grove st., between Beverly and Dryden. The street is unpaved and the big sewer is underneath it. William G. Franke is the new member of the plan commission, taking the place vacated by Otto H. Wulbecker.

Sprinkling Ban Still With Us

The sprinkling ban has not been lifted as many householders evidently have supposed. Water pressure over the week-end was very low in some parts of Arlington Heights. It should be remembered that houses of even numbers can only sprinkle on even calendar days; odd numbers on odd days.

"It is too bad that we have to limit sprinkling," said a public official, "because we like that revenue."

Parochial Schools Start Sept. 9

Add Three Teachers to St. James School Faculty

St. James Catholic school, Arlington Heights, will open its fall term September 9, when three new teachers will meet the students.

Classes will be in session until 10:30 a.m. September 9, and in the afternoon students will get their books. Regular sessions will begin September 10.

Two lay teachers, Miss Jacquelyn M. Votava and Miss Ursula Hayden, and one sister, Sister Ellinda, who formerly taught in Aurora, have been added to the teaching staff.

MISS VOTAVA, who makes her home with her parents on N. State rd., Arlington Heights, will teach part of the second grade. She received her B.A. degree from Immaculata college, Immaculata, Pa., in June, 1952. President of her class for four years, she was also elected to "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities" in her junior and senior years. She is also a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national Catholic honorary scholastic society.

Miss Ursula Hayden, who is now back in the field of teaching after a leave of absence, will teach part of the sixth grade. Miss Hayden had taught for 18 years in the intermediate and rural schools in El Paso, Ill. She has spent several summers at the State Normal school in Normal, Ill.

These lay teachers will teach most of the subjects with the exception of religion, which will be taught by the sisters.

Sister Aloys, principal, said that because of the shortage of teachers, all Catholic elementary schools are employing lay teachers to the ratio of one lay teacher to every six sisters.

To date, enrollment at St. James has surpassed that of last year.

Lutheran Faculty to Hold Workshop, Begin Classes

Faculty members of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will meet September 8 for a one day workshop. Pastor L. V. Stephan will conduct a devotional exercise and following this problems pertaining to the development of the school life of each individual will be discussed.

The school year will officially begin September 9 with a divine service at 9 a.m. Children will report to their respective classrooms and will then be taken to church by the teachers.

Following the services, children will return to their classrooms for instruction until 3:30 p.m. Parents are invited to attend the service.

W. Tinsley, operator of the local high school buses, will furnish transportation for the children attending this school and living on the following routes: north route, Olive to Rand to route 83 to McDonald to Wheeling to 83 to Palatine to Buffalo Grove rd. to Hintz to Schoenbeck to Dundee to State to Rand to Wilke to Palatine to State to the school; south route: Euclid to Wilke to Algonquin to State to Higgins and return on State to school.

The buses for these routes will leave the high school at 8 a.m. The cost is $4.25 per month per child. Mr. Tinsley will sell the monthly passes directly to the children.

Fire Department Did Not Refuse Cemetery Call

The story in last week's paper regarding a fire at a cemetery was in error two ways. First, the fire was at the tool shed of the Lutheran cemetery, not Memory Gardens. Second, Arlington Heights fire department did not refuse to answer the call.

The call received by Arlington Heights Chief Winkelman was delayed a few minutes. When he arrived at the scene the Mt. Prospect department was there.

Winkelman says, "the fire was within the village of Arlington Heights and it was our duty to respond. The fire was supposedly started by some boys and had burned for some time before it was discovered."

Northwest Heighters Activities

A speedy recovery to Marilyn Cheney, 12, who is confined to her home with the mumps.

Carole Huskey was the guest of honor at a yard party and picnic at her home Sunday attended by her aunts and uncles and cousins. Carole was 11 years old August 21.

'Clarabell' to Appear In Person at Store

"Clarabell," the silent clown featured on the "Howdy Doody" television program, will make a personal appearance at Hartmann's Shoe Store, 208 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, August 28 from 2 to 4 p.m.

The TV comic will greet local children and distribute free gifts in the store. Although the clown does not speak, Mr. Hartmann says he will "honk a hello" to every youngster present.

All gifts will be free and there will be no obligation to buy shoes in order to obtain them.

Of course not. But if you don't keep an accurate record of expense during the year, there's no way to protect yourself when the time comes to pay your income tax.

Methodist Women Plan Antique-Hobby Show

The first outstanding event of the fall season for members of the Women's society of the Arlington Heights Methodist church is always the antique and hobby show. This year's show will be presented September 15, 16 and 17.

The New England architecture of the Methodist Meeting house will serve as a back drop for the display of rare old furniture, glass, silver, pewter, brass, copper and jewelry reminiscent of family treasures brought by the founders of the church 115 years ago.

Mrs. Charles Oestmann chairman of the dealer's section of the show, revealed that exhibitors from the northshore and various midwestern cities will represent all fields of interest to collectors.

The hobby committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Barbour, is emphasizing creative crafts. Featured in this part of the show will be five working hobbies with demonstrators. Also will be displayed a collection of old Bibles.

Mrs. Wilbur Inman's committee, in charge of table settings, will have display examples of this art.

The quilt exhibit, which is being arranged by Mrs. Victor Reed, will feature modern needlecraft as well as needlecraft of grandmother and great-grandmother. Of interest will be a quilt completely handmade by a gentleman of the community.

A new project of the society, the sale of plates picturing the church, will be introduced at the show, Mrs. C. M. Crane in charge.

Luncheons, a buffet supper, afternoon tea and a snack bar are being planned by Mrs. Maynard Whitelaw and her committee.

Admission to the show will be 50 cents, which entitles a visitor to return as many times as he wishes during the three days of the show.

New non-fiction books at Arlington library include: "Creative Hobbies" by Harry Zarchy. Guaranteed to prevent boredom and provide an outlet for creative expression, this book makes it possible for the most inexperienced craftsman to perfect his hobby and use his leisure hours fruitfully. Included are woodcarving, stagecraft, shellcraft and many other hobbies.

"I Was a Captive In Korea" by Philip Deane. A foreign correspondent writes one of the truly great personal accounts of human fortitude in this story of his 33 months as a prisoner of the enemy in Korea.

"Handcraft In Wood," by John Hooper. In this volume there are more than 500 diagrams, including working drawings, designs, and explanatory sketches illustrating in detail many phases of wood craft. This book was given to the library in memory of Mrs. Mae Kermes.

"Reunion and Reaction: the Compromise of 1877 and the End of Reconstruction" by C. Vann Woodward. An entirely new interpretation, based on fresh evidence and requiring a revision of previous attitudes toward the reconstruction period, the history of the Republican party and the realignment of forces that fought the Civil War are all presented in this volume.

"Early American Wood Carving" by Erwin O. Christiansen. Wood carving had played an important part in the art expression of the American people from the first settlements down to the end of the nineteenth century. Mr. Christensen discusses ornamental figure, wood portraits, ship figure heads, circus carvings, small whittlings, and religious carvings.

"Your Solar House" prepared with the technical assistance and cooperation of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. This book of particular interest to modern home builders, contains designs of 49 of the leading architects. Each has created a plan and design for a house inspired by a locality in each of the 48 states.

The new fiction category includes: "Come My Beloved" by Pearl S. Buck. For the first time Pearl Buck uses India for the primary scene of her novel. In the larger sense, however, this profound story reaches across the world to follow man's universal search for God.

"The Deep Six" by Martin Dibner. "There are three kinds of people," says the author; "those that are alive, those that are dead, and those who are at sea." This is the tense story of men fighting together and fighting each other. This is the story of those who are at sea.

"Father, Dear Father" by Ludwig Bemelmans. At first glance, this seems to be a story of a European trip which Bemelmans took a year or so ago with his 13-year-old daughter, but Bemelmans does not just "take a trip"; he adventures into the heart of people and brings them back alive in his notes and sketchbooks.

"Wilderness Passage" by Forrester Blake. Through the pages of this novel we see the violent clash on interests which made history. The passing of the mountain men, the subjugation of the Indians, the warfare between Mormon and Gentile for a living ideal; yet the people drove on to pursue their western star.

"Behold Virginia!" by George F. Willison. The aristocracy of Virginia is one of the mysteries of American history. Through the years it has maintained pomp and pageantry. But behind its glitter and romance lies the stark and tragic story of the colony.

"Time and Time Again" by James Hilton. Mr. Hilton's millions of readers will find this new novel a story of the heart and mind of a very human being. The scenes range from Paris to Connecticut from London to So. America. The time is our own, the man is Charles Anderson, an agent in the British Foreign service.

"We Chose Cape Cod" by Scott Corbett. In spite of the many ominous predictions of his friends, Scott Corbett and his family moved to Cape Cod. A cemetery with lights, he was advised, but the Corbetts found that after nearly a year in their new home they had discovered the busiest, funniest, and most satisfying existence they had ever known.

"The Train in the Meadow" by Robert Nathan. Robert Nathan has written a story which brings some of the universal problems of the present day living into view.

Lions Club Notes

At a recent meeting of the Arlington Heights Lion's club, members voted to contribute $200 to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to help defray expenses incurred by the latter in making a survey for the proposed hospital.

The club received permission from the North Western railroad to erect a shelter at Evergreen and Northwest highway. They are making a preliminary study to determine the type of shelter they will erect.

Members were pleased with the participation of youngsters in the Olympics and the cooperation of parents. Over 500 awards were made to contestants.

Earl Denton has transferred to the Arlington club from the Central Lion's club, Chicago.

Tree Climbing Results In Many Accidents

James Gow Jr., 323 Windsor dr., Arlington Heights, was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, August 18 for injuries received from falling out of a tree.

He received rather severe spinal injuries.

One of the head nurses at the hospital suggested that the local police put up signs and that parents instruct youngsters not to climb trees. In the past several weeks nearly a dozen children have been taken to St. Francis for injuries sustained from falling out of trees.

Two Win Scholarships To University of Illinois

A total of 650 students took the exams with scholarships going to the top 71 students. Thirty-three scholarships went to students attending schools in suburban Cook county. Two of them are from the northwest area. They are: Carrie N. Kadoyama, Box 282, Arlington Heights high school; Diana C. Haskell, 1825 Milton st., Northbrook, Palatine high school.

Rummage Sale

Dorcas Aid of St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will hold a rummage sale at 9:30 a.m., September 5 in the old school basement. For pickup, call CLearbrook 3-6333 or CLearbrook 3-7181.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

From time to time, we hear an unpleasant rumor, one which seems cold and heartless if true — although perhaps there is some reason for its being if it should happen to be true.

Growing out of the most recent accident at the corners of Dundee rd. and Elmhurst rd., I heard that it only requires about two more deaths before a traffic signal, or a four- way stop sign is installed at the intersection. According to this story that we hear so often, it requires five deaths at an intersection on the open country before something is done to control the passage of vehicles through an intersection in all directions.

If true, this seems to be a particularly calculating attitude on the part of traffic control authorities. Does that mean that one accident in which five people might be killed would immediately bring attention to bear on an intersection that is relatively quiet — while an intersection that might have many accidents and comparatively few deaths would be a danger spot for many years.

IF IT IS NOT true, perhaps somewhere the traffic control authorities might be able to indicate the ways in which they arrive at conclusions as to the location of signals and stop-signs.

We were in Baltimore recently, during the first week of work for a new traffic director. Much was being made of his tours about the city, for the city had just created the $30,000 job, the highest paid job in the city. Reporters from all the papers went about the city with him.

Everywhere he pointed out places for attention. A secretary made copious notes. One had a suspicion that any one of the capable traffic officers could have told him the same problem-spots, but that does not detract from the fact that these problem-spots were itemized and that preliminary suggestions for corrections were already being made. The first week of the new traffic director was a great success.

SOMEBODY should be able to perceive and diagnose and suggest cures for all the dangerous intersections in Cook county. A cold and calculating method of counting deaths seems heartless. I hope that the rumor we hear is not true.

We can hope that if questions are raised, someone who knows the answers will make suitable expression to the editor so that we all may know.

Traffic is a serious problem when nearly all of us in this area own automobiles and depend on them. Some of us know that we have a dangerous weapon on our hands and seek to use it wisely. But there are always threats that cannot be foreseen. We can hope that someone has seen the danger-spots and done everything humanly possible to eliminate most of the danger.

(This article was written prior to the accident August 12.)

Let Them Have Fun!

They're only young once! Don't curb their fun with "keep-your-clothes-clean" warnings. We'll keep all their clothes sparkling clean . . . dazzling white . . . and this does wonders for their sense of pride and self-respect.

Are You Still Under-insured

The recent series of "It can't happen here" catastrophies at Waco, Texas; Flint, Michigan; Cleveland, Ohio; and Worcester, Mass., again brought to light that a surprising large percentage of risks were underinsured — particularly dwellings.

Also, that there was a woeful lack of windstorm insurance on contents not only of dwellings, but of stores and factories as well.

These losses prove that violent windstorms can happen anywhere and can cause complete damage to both building and contents, so — why take chances when you can easily avoid unnecessary loss by letting us bring your insurance up-to-date now.

Marilynn Benn And Martin Murphy Wed

At an 11 o'clock ceremony that took place July 11 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Glenview, Miss Marilynn Ann Benn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Benn, 143 N. Addison st., Bensenville, became the bride of Martin Edward Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Murphy, Golf, Ill.

Father Ryan officiated at the ceremony during which Mr. Benn gave his daughter in marriage. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar of the church.

For her wedding, the bride wore a bouffant gown of white eyelet embroidered organdy with long train and a juliet cap of nylon tulle trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Jean Jankers of Bensenville served as maid of honor to the bride and the Misses Marie Irving and Helen Pursel served as bridesmaids. They wore ballerina length dresses of white organdy over light blue taffeta with blue bows as sashes. They also wore blue hats and carried bouquets of roses, red for the maid of honor and pink for the bridesmaids.

Michael Day served as the groom's best man and Patrick Holihan and Alan Peter Benn served as ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party was served at the Fireside restaurant and in the evening, 200 guests attended a buffet dinner served at the Mohawk country club. Mrs. Benn received in a pink mauve dress with light pink accessories and the groom's mother in a powder blue dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of lilies. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. J. Kertys of Stephenson, Mich., Mrs. A. Brady and Mrs. R. Jones of Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. C. Murphy of Woodstock and Mr. and Mrs. K. Brennan of Enterprise, Ala.

Donna Nordbrock Is Now Mrs. LeRoy Engel

Trinity Lutheran church, Roselle, was the scene of a wedding August 22 in which Le Roy F. Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Engel, 46 W. Elm st., Roselle, took Miss Donna Mae Nordbrock, Roselle, as his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Nordbrock of Janesville, Wis., are the parents of the bride.

Rev. J. L. Stuebe of Taylor Ridge, Ill., gave an address at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony which was performed by Rev. W. H. Mehlberg. Soloist was Mrs. L. W. Gersmehl, accompanied by Mr. Gersmehl. Organist for the processional and recessional was A. J. Binneboese. The church was decorated with white gladioli at the altar and baskets of white gladioli in the sanctuary. The same flowers were tied to the pews with white satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white nylon tulle gown over Skinner satin with long train. Her French illusion veil was finger tip in length. White carnations with stephanotis and a white orchid center, made up the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Theodore Harms served as her sister's matron of honor wearing a gown of pastel green with nylon net over taffeta with lace bolero. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and wore a sweetheart bonnet as a headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Elmer Becker, cousin of the bride Miss Barbara Schwimmer and Miss Elsie Hesemann. All wore gowns fashioned identically to the matron of honor's gown in orchid, yellow and blue, respectively. Their bouquets were of yellow roses, talismans and pink roses. Flower girl was Joan Engel, niece of the groom, who wore a pink gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Best man to the groom was Ralph C. Botterman of Roselle and ushers were the groom's brother, Alfred, his cousin, Charles Engel, Donald Tews, Wayne Gieske and Harold Leppin.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held at Trinity Lutheran school. A buffet dinner was served by Trinity Mother's club. Open house for members of the church was held after the reception, followed by a lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Engel for invited guests.

After a honeymoon in Michigan, Mr. Engel and his bride will be at home at 46 W. Elm st., Roselle, after September 1.

Mr. Engel is planning to continue his studies at the University of Illinois in the department of engineering and Mrs. Engel will teach the middle grades of Trinity Lutheran school, Roselle.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

For parties and for picnics, the barbecue recipe we are featuring today is just right! Tempting and tasty, it is made of chunks of beef and pork (about the size for chop suey) rather than ground meat.

The meat is combined with catsup, green pepper, celery, onion and dry mustard and cooked for three hours. It is served on warm buns.

Mrs. C. Oscar Parson of Arlington Heights, who is sharing this recipe with us, usually accompanies the barbecue with a salad or sliced tomatoes and potato chips. It can be made the day before it is to be served.

Because pieces of meat rather than ground meat is used, the barbecue is somewhat thicker in consistency, and thus when the sandwiches are prepared the buns will not become soggy. The meat stays firm and whole.

The Parsons' live at 645 S. Highland. They have three children: Janet, who is a high school sophomore, and twins Nancy and Richard, who attend junior high. Mrs. Parsons is a member of the PTA and of Circle 8 Square Dance club.

Barbecue

2 pounds beef cut in small pieces.
1 pound pork cut in small pieces.
1 bottle catsup.
1 bottle water (use empty catsup bottle).
1 medium-size green pepper, chopped.
1 medium-size bunch celery, chopped.
1 large onion, chopped.
¼ teaspoon dry mustard.

Mix all of the ingredients together, and season to taste. Cook for three hours over a low flame.

If the barbecue is too loose, remove the lid and cook a little longer. Serve on hot buns. Makes about 18 barbecues.

Frances Brubaker Becomes Bride Of Jean Hefner

A wedding in which Miss Frances Louise Brubaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Brubaker, 411 N. Belmont ave., became the bride of Jean Mills Hefner of N. Dryden place, took place at four o'clock Saturday, August 15 at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights.

Entering on the arm of her father, the bride wore a cream-colored dress with matching headpiece and accessories. She carried a Bible with gardenias and white satin streamers.

Matron of honor to the bride was her sister, Mrs. J. J. Clark, who wore a blue dress fashioned identically to the bride's dress. Her flowers were white roses. Flower girl was Linda Baumgardner, niece of the bride from Covington, Ky. Her dress was in yellow and she carried yellow roses with small blue flowers.

Norman Hefner served as his brother's best man and ushers were J. J. Clark, brother-in-law of the bride, and Adam Hefner, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, 60 guests attended a reception held in the home of the bride's parents, after which the bride and groom left on a 3-week honeymoon trip to Banff, Lake Louise and Glacier National Park. They will reside at 642 N. Dryden.

50th Wedding Anniversary Recalls Memories Of Old

Gareiss Photo

Memories of a wedding held in Schaumburg 50 years ago will be recalled next week when Schaumburg residents of today will attend a reception and open house in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfingsten of Roselle, who will celebrate their golden wedding.

Included among the guests will be many descendants of the original emigrants from Germany, who gave the German name "Schaumburg" to the township in 1850. Mrs. Louis Oltendorf, Mrs. Fred Gieseke and Mrs. Walter Hinrichs, attendants in the original bridal party, will be present at the celebration. Descendants of Mr. Pfingsten, 73, and Mrs. Pfingsten, 71, include four children, 12 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

The Pfingsten wedding, September 3, 1903, united two prominent families, the Rohlwings and the Pfingstens. The time-honored German wedding customs were followed to the letter, the invitations being personally delivered by a horse-back rider.

After the church ceremony, a big parade, band and decorated horsemen led the way to the tents large enough to accommodate the entire countryside. It was of such importance that reporters from the Chicago press covered the story.

The fiftieth anniversary will not be as colorful as that wedding, but will include a triple observance. A family dinner for the 60 members will be held at St. Peter's school hall in Schaumburg, Thursday, September 3. That evening, 300 guests are expected to attend a reception in Benhart's hall, Roselle. Three days later, Mr. and Mrs. Pfingsten will hold an open house at 139 S. Roselle rd. from 2 to 5 p. m.

Celebrate 65th Anniversary

Gareiss Photo

Celebrating their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday, Aug. 30, will be Mr. and Mrs. William Maack who reside on McHenry rd., Wheeling. Friends and relatives will honor them at a gathering arranged by their daughter, Harriet Maack, of Chicago. Besides Harriet, the couple has a son, Arthur, also of Chicago, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

William Maack, 91 and Mary, 85, were married in Chicago in 1888 and have always lived in the Chicago area. Mrs. Maack was born in Chicago and her husband was born in Germany, coming to the United States when he was 20 years old. He operated a transfer trucking business and at one time owned 60 head of horses.

Janet Haberkamp And George Angus Jr. Wed

Community Camera

(Community Camera

In a candlelight ceremony that took place Saturday evening, August 22, at St. Paul Lutheran church in Mount Prospect, Miss Janet Haberkamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Haberkamp, Mount Prospect, became the bride of George Angus Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Angus Sr. of Chicago Heights.

Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, pastor of the church, officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony before a background of cibotium fern and a gladiola, candle-lighted altar. Miss Carol Faulstich served as soloist and her selections were, "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied at the organ by Elmer Jackisch.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace and tulle with a tiny cap of lace and a fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a crescent bouquet of lily of the valley, stephanotis, carnations and variegated ivy.

Pale pink antique shantung and tulle were the fabrics used in the attendants' gowns. Maid of honor to the bride was Miss Barbara Roberts and bridesmaids were the Misses Donna Mills, Carol Weinrich, Mary Ellen Stapleton and Carol Busse. Each wore a cluster of rubrum lilies in her hair and carried a crescent bouquet of the same flowers with ivy. Flower girl was 4-year-old Cynthia Gosch, cousin of the bride, who wore a dress similar to the bridesmaids'. She also carried a bouquet of rubrum lilies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Haberkamp wore a gown of champagne lace and tulle with a corsage of cimbidium orchids of tones to match her dress. Mrs. Angus wore a gown of dusty rose lace and tulle with pink cimbidium orchids.

Serving Mr. Angus as best man was his brother, Marvin, while William Pipher of Kokomo, Ind., Lee Fillingim and Robert Blanchard, fraternity brothers of the groom, and Robert Haberkamp, brother of the bride, served as ushers.

Over 250 guests attended the reception held at the VFW club house after the ceremony. Besides Miss Mills, who is from Florida, other guests came from Milwaukee, Chicago Heights, Detroit, St. Louis and Dixon to attend the ceremony.

Both Mr. Angus and his bride attended the University of Illinois. The bridegroom is now in the navy, stationed at Glenview Naval Air Base. After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside at 15 N. Elmhurst ave, Mount Prospect.

AAUW Urges College Grads To Join Group

The American Association of University Women would again like to bring to the attention of college women in the Northwest Suburban area the existence of a local branch with its meeting place in Des Plaines.

Mrs. R. M. Dunlap, Des Plaines, vice president and membership chairman states that membership is open to any woman holding an approved degree from a college or university approved by the national association. Associate memberships are also available to women with two years of work from an approved institution. AAUW invites such women to join with other college alumnae of similar background and training in a program devoted to education, wider opportunities for women, international understanding and cooperation, and application of training and abilities of college women to the complex problems of modern life.

Women in the Mount Prospect-Arlington area interested in further information regarding membership in the local branch should contact Mrs. W. J. Hartman, CI 3-1024.

According to Mrs. G. E. Bailey, Des Plaines, president, the Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women is anticipating an active, 1953-54 club year. The first meeting of the year is planned around a novel back-to-college theme, at which a group discussion technique will be used to determine the talents and interests of the members for purposes of future program planning. The first meeting will be held Thursday, September 17 at St. Martins Episcopal church, Thacker and Margaret sts., Des Plaines. Prospective members are invited to attend.

Kappa Deltas To Hold Rushing Tea

Kappa Delta Alumnae from this area are giving a tea Saturday, August 29, at the home of Mrs. David Dewar, 332 Vine st., Park Ridge, to welcome all young women who will be attending colleges this fall where Kappa Delta sorority has chapters.

Mrs. Donald Thompson, 316 E. Euclid, vice president of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae association, Mrs. Albert Seidel, 641 S. Bristol ln., Mrs. C. F. Close, 304 Wilshire, Mrs. K. R. Kort, 810 N. Chestnut and Mrs. Karl Shuart, 712 N. Fernandez, all of Arlington Heights, are assisting with arrangements for this rushing tea.

Nurses' Club Plans Fashion Show

Plans for "Suburban Showcase," fashion show to be presented by Arlington Heights Nurses club, Thursday, September 17, are now completed according to Mrs. George Jirgal, chairman.

The show will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the gymnasium of Arlington Heights high school. The Lorraine Anne dress shop and the bridal shop of Des Plaines will participate. Furs, shoes and jewelry will also be modeled.

Mrs. Jirgal's committee members are Mrs. Samuel Wit, co-chairman, tickets; Mrs. Frank Schwanke, models; Mrs. James King, program, Mrs. George Rinehart, decorations and Mrs. Charles Bloecker, publicity.

Brian Parker of Barrington, 1953 graduate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was one of those explaining features of the new chemistry building at the dedication this summer.

Brian, osn of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker of West County Line road, attended the first summer semester at the institute to complete his thesis study under Dr. Myles Maxfield and Dr. Bernard A. Koechlin. He worked on squid muscle to obtain data on the free amino acids present. A comparison was then made with the data on squid axoplasm previously determined by Dr. Koechlin.

One of the annual Boit prizes given in Creative Writing by MIT English and history departments was awarded to Brian for his story of a 10 year old boy and total war. He was awarded $40, second prize.

Young Parker has returned study at a college of electronics home and plans to apply his in Chicago this fall.

It was 10 years ago that Brian was stricken by polio and was left with both legs paralyzed. His recovery has been slow but steady and he walks now but without control of his right leg below the knee.

Parker plans to study applied electronics in Chicago. He will attend the audio fair in Chicago. This fair will be combined with the 1953 international sight and sound exposition at the Palmer House in Chicago, September 1, 2, and 3.

The three-day public and trade display of leading American and foreign equipment is expected to draw more than 20,000 persons. This will be the only public hi-fi audio-video show in the midwest during 1953.

Ron Wiegand, Arlington Heights, is a post graduate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is doing summer work too.

Newcomers' Tea Set For Sept. 3

Thursday, Sept. 3, is the date set for the annual Arlington Heights newcomers' tea. The affair will be held at the field house from 2 to 4 p.m. with musical background provided by Harold Slottag. All newcomers in Arlington Heights are invited.

The first regular meeting of the season for the club will be Thursday, Sept. 17, 8 p.m. at the field house. A short business meeting to elect officers for the coming year will precede an evening of movies and refreshments.

Dr. Lois Higgins of the Crime Prevention Bureau, Chicago, will speak on narcotics at the October 15 meeting. Everyone in the community is invited to this meeting.

Programs for future meetings of the club were arranged at a meeting of the Newcomers' board of directors August 26. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John Auld, program chairman.

Junior Woman's Club Holds Tea Sunday

The Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club tea was held Sunday, August 23, in the garden of Mrs. H. A. Preiss. Punch and petit fors were served.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

New season for the Young Married Couples club of the Presbyterian church will get underway this Friday night with the traditional corn roast, annually held at the first fall get-together of the group.

Members will meet at Lake avenue woods, west, by 7 p.m.—if they want their corn at its best, the committee says. They're to bring their own supper, except for dessert and coffee—and the corn—which will be served by the committee.

Entertainment, such as a softball game, is usually on the YMC picnic agenda, but at the corn roast most everyone spends almost all evening just eating! Any couples interested in attending are invited.

Men's Night Out

A good number of local boys and their fathers will have a night out next Monday as guest of Merle Guild post 208, American Legion. The occasion is the group's annual youth dinner to be held in the new activity building of St. Peter Lutheran church.

Guests on the honor list will be members of the championship Junior Legion baseball team and representatives who attended Boys' State last June. Fathers of these boys are invited to bask in reflected glory that night.

Speaker of the evening is Freddy Lindstrom, former New York Giant third baseman, a batting champ, and now baseball coach at Northwestern university. His son, Chuck, is star of the Winnetka Legion team now playing in the sectional tournament. Sectional winners go on to the Little World series early in September. Chuck may be able to attend the dinner with his father.

A number of other local men prominent in youth work have also been invited to the dinner.

Opportunity

A considerable number of local high school boys and girls will be offered the opportunity of a lifetime this year—to be exchange students at either Oak Ridge, Tenn., or Bradenton, Fla., high schools.

While on the exchange trip, which lasts a week, students live in homes of their student hosts. When the southerners come to Arlington Heights, they in turn stay with the boys and girls who visited them previously.

Part of the time is spent visiting classes in the new schools and part in visiting local points of interest. The expense of travel and of trips while visiting the other school are to be borne by the student and his family, but boys and girls will be guests in homes while away.

Since more youngsters than can be accommodated on the trip will probably request to go, those interested are asked to apply soon to either H. L. Slichenmyer or Mrs. Hazel Stewart at the high school.

EASTWOOD EVENTS

Birthdays

Cathy and Barbara Johnson celebrated their eighth and sixth birthdays, respectively last Saturday with a luncheon and theatre party for Cathy's friends and a garden party with lawn games for friends of Barabara.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stu Fitz Patrick of Beverly Lane, were Mr. Fitz Patrick's mother, Mrs. Mamie Pender of Chicago and his cousin, Naomi Colgan of Markdale, Ontario, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lee had visitors from Richmond, Va., last week.

Home From Hospital

Neighbors are glad to see "Paddy" Thompson, 3, back from his quick trip to the hospital where he was treated for pneumonia. Mrs. Lee has returned from Evanston hospital after undergoing minor surgery.

Enjoy Carnival

Director's Meeting

At the Eastwood directors' meeting, those chosen were: Bill Johnson to assist with the orchestra and entertainment with Mary Johnson as chairman of tickets, for the Eastwood fall dance to be held at Fred's place Mallowe'en night.

Arlington Heights FFA Boys Win Awards At Woodstock

Ten members of the Arlington Heights chapter of Future Farmers of America showed livestock and vegetables at the section six fair held at Woodstock Saturday and brought home many blue and red ribbons as a result.

Donald Drewes' Yorkshire barrow repeated its performance of the 4-H fair by carrying off the grand champion barrow prize. Donald and his barrow had a "free ride" past the grandstand along with grand champion winners of other divisions as they were presented special plaques.

Dennis Brockmann placed in class A and third place with his junior Holstein heifer and Melvin Meyer receieved class B on his senior heifer, cow, herd of three animals, and produce of dam. The school dairy exhibit by Brockmann, Meyer, and Drewes was placed fourth out of eight entries. Wayne Goede showed a pair of geese and received a class A, first place award.

Clifford Moellenkamp, carrots and onions from sets; Ronald Busse, tomatoes; Eugene Kueking, sweet corn; Ralph VonBergen, acorn squash. Bob Petersen was also put in class A on corn and tomatoes, losing top placing only to other Arlington Heights boys. He was second in corn and third in tomatoes.

Wayne Oehlerking receievd class A and second on tomatoes while those exhibited by Ed Linneman were put in class B with the fourth place ribbon.

THE SHOW was judged on the modified Danish system where all entries are placed in classes with no limit on the number in each class except for quality. Then first, second, third, etc. are presented only one ribbon of each color. The F.F.A. is an organization for boys studying vocational agriculture in high school and the competition in section six extended to Belvedere on the west and the state line on the north with fifteen chapters participating.

J. D. Bryson Vo-Ag. instructor at Arlington Heights high school, who is on duty two months during the summer, supervised the boys and acted as superintendent of the vegetable division of the show. Other F.F.A. boys will show mature grain and soybeans at Gurnee sometime in November.

Night School Program To Include Charm Course

One of the new courses for this fall in the night school program of Arlington Heights high school will be a ten week charm course beginning September 28 given by Miss Peggy Terry, who is a staff member of a prominent loop school of charm and modeling.

Miss Terry is now a resident of this area and especially interested in the adult education program of the community. Registration for the charm class will be held at the high school beginning September 21 through 23 from 7 to 9 p. m.

The course will be streamlined into ten two hour lessons and will include walking, posture, pause positions; the art of sitting and rising; recontouring the figure; make-up; hair-styling; wardrobe; voice, diction, and conversation; proper handling of the coat, etiquette and manners; poised entrances and exits, and business interview.

This course is not only of great advantage to aspiring young models, but will also help a career girl whose greatest assets are attractiveness, charm, and poise.

Many of Miss Terry's classes have registered up to as high as 200 students. These courses have been given in many suburban schools and as far away as Joliet and surrounding cities.

Everett Lindgren of the Arlington Furniture Mart greets Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thompson, 117 Albert st., Mt. Prospect, winners of this beautiful Barcolounger reclining chair given away at the 4-H fair by the furniture store. Over 2,000 adult registrations were received.

Des Plaines Man Dies in Red Camp

A Des Plaines man was listed among those names released by the defense department last week as having died in a Red prison camp. Pfc. William M. Zoellick, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zoellick, who reside in the trailer camp on route 2, wsa on the communist list as submitted to the United Nations. Zoellick has been missing since December of 1950.

Prior to his army service Zoellick graduated from Maine high school and worked for General Molded Products. He was a member of the local Company I of the Illinois National Guard. In May of 1950 he requested discharge from the Guard to join the Army, in the fall of 1950 he was sent to Korea where he was assigned to an infantry division. The last letter he sent his parents was dated October 1, 1950.

World War Service Meant Social Security Benefits to Widows

Their husbands never had a social security card, yet two widows are now receiving monthly social security insurance payments for themselves and their minor children which can total thousands of dollars during the next eight years.

As dentists, Dr. Phil A. Skwiot of Norwood Park and Dr. John W. Smithe of Mayfair, were not covered by the Social Security Act. A few months ago both doctors met sudden, accidental deaths. Ordinarily their survivors would not be eligible for social security benefits. But to carry coincidence a step farther, Drs. Skwiot and Smithe had another factor in common. They were veterans of World War II.

Under the Social Security Act, wage credits of $160 a month are granted for each month of active military or naval service after August, 1940. Based on 28 months in the air force, Dr. Skwiot was granted wage credits of $4,480. Dr. Smithe spent 37 months in service so he received $5,920 on his social security account.

As a result Mrs. Evelyn Skwiot will receive $45 a month for herself and her three children, Judith age 16, Phil, 11, and Paul 9. Mrs. Jean Smithe will receive $45.10 a month for herself and her two children, Marsha 11, and Alan 9. Benefits for the children can continue until age 18, and to the mothers until the youngest child becomes 18. If they do not remarry, Mrs. Skwiot and Mrs. Smithe could again become e titled to widow's benefits at a 65.

Miss Ellen McGuire, manag of the social security office 5306 W. Lawrence, emphasiz that all personal social securi information is confidential. M Skwiot and Mrs. Smithe ga their permission to disclose the stories so that others might knc about the social security prote tion afforded veterans and the families.

AAUW Urges College Grads To Join Group

The American Association of University Women would again like to bring to the attention of college women in the Northwest Suburban area the existence of a local branch with its meeting place in Des Plaines.

Mrs. R. M. Dunlap, Des Plaines, vice president and membership chairman states that membership is open to any woman holding an approved degree from a college or university approved by the national association. Associate memberships are also available to women with two years of work from an approved institution. AAUW invites such women to join with other college alumnae of similar background and training in a program devoted to education, wider opportunities for women, international understanding and cooperation, and application of training and abilities of college women to the complex problems of modern life.

Women in the Mount Prospect-Arlington area interested in further information regarding membership in the local branch should contact Mrs. W. J. Hartman, Cl 3-1024.

According to Mrs. G. E. Bailey, Des Plaines, president, the Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women is anticipating an active, 1953-54 club year. The first meeting of the year is planned around a novel back-to-college theme, at which a group discussion technique will be used to determine the talents and interests of the members for purposes of future program planning. The first meeting will be held Thursday, September 17 at St. Martins Episcopal church, Thacker and Margaret sts., Des Plaines. Prospective members are invited to attend.

Kappa Deltas To Hold Rushing Tea

Kappa Delta Alumnae from this area are giving a tea Saturday, August 29, at the home of Mrs. David Dewar, 332 Vine st., Park Ridge, to welcome all young women who will be attending colleges this fall where Kappa Delta sorority has chapters.

Mrs. Donald Thompson, 316 E. Euclid, vice president of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae association, Mrs. Albert Seidel, 641 S. Bristol ln., Mrs. C. F. Close, 304 Wilshire, Mrs. K. R. Kort, 810 N. Chestnut and Mrs. Karl Shuart, 712 N. Fernandez, all of Arlington Heights, are assisting with arrangements for this rushing tea.

Nurses' Club Plans Fashion Show

Plans for "Suburban Showcase," fashion show to be presented by Arlington Heights Nurses club, Thursday, September 17, are now completed according to Mrs. George Jirgal, chairman.

The show will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the gymnasium of Arlington Heights high school. The Lorraine Anne dress shop and the bridal shop of Des Plaines will participate. Furs, shoes and jewelry will also be modeled.

Mrs. Jirgal's committee members are Mrs. Samuel Wit, co-chairman, tickets; Mrs. Frank Schwanke, models; Mrs. James King, program, Mrs. George Rinehart, decorations and Mrs. Charles Bloecker, publicity.

Brian Parker of Barrington, 1953 graduate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was one of those explaining features of the new chemistry building at the dedication this summer.

Brian, osn of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker of West County Line road, attended the first summer semester at the institute to complete his thesis study under Dr. Myles Maxfield and Dr. Bernard A. Koechlin. He worked on squid muscle to obtain data on the free amino acids present. A comparison was then made with the data on squid axoplasm previously determined by Dr. Koechlin.

One of the annual Boit prizes given in Creative Writing by MIT English and history departments was awarded to Brian for his story of a 10 year old boy and total war. He was awarded $40, second prize.

Young Parker has returned study at a college of electronics home and plans to apply his in Chicago this fall.

It was 10 years ago that Brian was stricken by polio and was left with both legs paralyzed. His recovery has been slow but steady and he walks now but without control of his right leg below the knee.

Parker plans to study applied electronics in Chicago. He will attend the audio fair in Chicago. This fair will be combined with the 1953 international sight and sound exposition at the Palmer House in Chicago, September 1, 2, and 3.

The three-day public and trade display of leading American and foreign equipment is expected to draw more than 20,000 persons. This will be the only public hi-fi audio-video show in the midwest during 1953.

Newcomers' Tea Set For Sept. 3

Thursday, Sept. 3, is the date set for the annual Arlington Heights newcomers' tea. The affair will be held at the field house from 2 to 4 p.m. with musical background provided by Harold Slottag. All newcomers in Arlington Heights are invited.

The first regular meeting of the season for the club will be Thursday, Sept. 17, 8 p.m. at the field house. A short business meeting to elect officers for the coming year will precede an evening of movies and refreshments.

Dr. Lois Higgins of the Crime Prevention Bureau, Chicago, will speak on narcotics at the October 15 meeting. Everyone in the community is invited to this meeting.

Programs for future meetings of the club were arranged at a meeting of the Newcomers' board of directors August 26. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John Auld, program chairman.

Junior Woman's Club Holds Tea Sunday

The Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club tea was held Sunday, August 23, in the garden of Mrs. H. A. Preiss. Punch and petit fors were served.

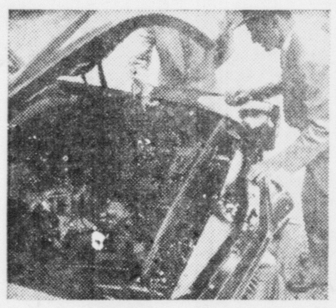
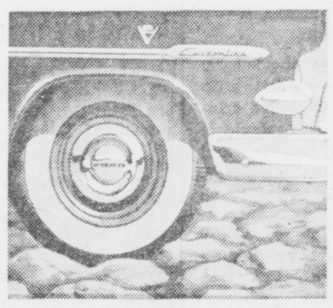
Look what your FORD dollar buys!

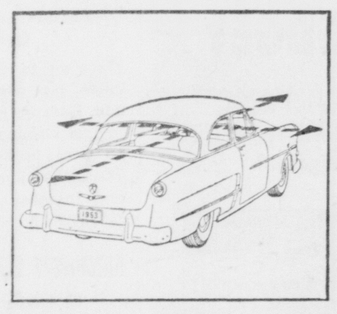
Check the features below against any car in the low-price field and you'll see why Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.



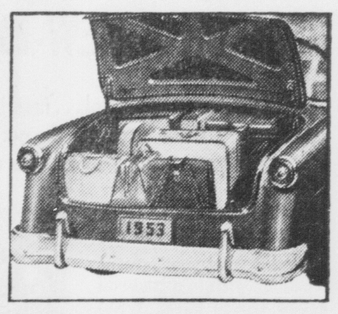
V-8 POWER is yours in Ford—but not in other low-priced cars. It's the product of Ford's experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's! Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker Six with Overdrive, is the Economy Sweepstakes winner.



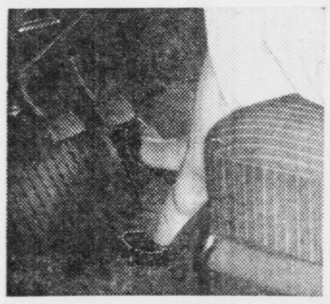
ROAD-LEVELING RIDE reduces front end road shock alone up to 80%. Wide front tread, diagonally-mounted shock absorbers take tilt out of turns. You'll discover in the '53 Ford that a car need not be excessively heavy to ride smooth as silk.



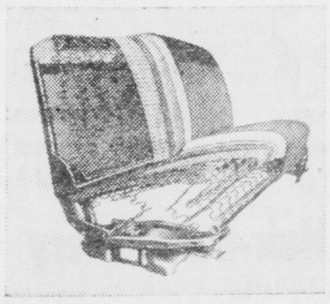
FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY is yours in Ford. With huge, curved, one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and "picture windows" all-around, Ford has more "look out" area than any car in the low-price field. I-REST tinted glass also available.



ROOMY TRUNK is one suitcase bigger . . . bigger than any other luggage compartment in Ford's field . . . bigger than you'll find in many of the expensive cars. With Ford's Center-Fill Fueling, there's no long gas-fill pipe to eat up your trunk space.



SUSPENDED PEDALS make braking and clutching easier . . . allow more clear floor space . . . eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. This feature, exclusive to Ford in its field, permits dash-mounting of brake master cylinder for easy accessibility.



FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS over non-sag springs in Ford's sofa-wide seats make even long trips a treat. And you'll find that only Ford in the low-price field offers this fine-car feature as standard equipment on both front and rear seats in all models.

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—an optional extra—is really two automatic drives in one. It has a fluid torque converter for smooth, steady power flow. It has automatic gears for greater "get-up-and-go." Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional Drive.

MASTER-GUIDE POWER STEERING—an optional extra on V-8 models—gives you the natural "feel" of steering on the straight-away yet takes the work out of turning. Absorbs road shocks before they reach the steering wheel—adds to safety.

Insurance Diploma

Among the 364 life insurance men and women eligible to receive C. L. U. diplomas from the American college of life underwriters at its annual conferment exercises, to be held in Cleveland, Ohio August 26 is Robert R. Schreiber of Palatine, who is with Bankers Life company.

To Mothers of College Freshmen:

It's going to be quite different with your boy away at school. He will need more of most everything —particularly shirts, sox and underwear.
If he is going to send his laundry home to you, better double the quantities you plan to start him out with.

SHIRTS

"Musts" include white, colored and sport shirts. ARROW in white broadcloth and oxford — plain and button-down collars, barrel and French cuffs—plain and patterns in colored. ARROW and McGREGOR in plain and fancy sport shirts. Include a PENDLETON wool shirt and a tux shirt. Will need not less than 12 to 18 shirts.

SWEATERS

Will need several — armless, pull-over and coat styles. Include more if going East.

SLACKS

Needs at least 6 in different patterns. Weights and materials dependent on location of school. We have a big collection to choose from. Include a pair of hobby jeans.

NECKTIES

Include not only four-in-hands, but several bows and both black and maroon tux bows.

SHOES

Needs at least three pair. Include a pair of blacks

We have sturdy, stylish Taylor-Made shoes in Scotch Grains, Cordovans and calf.

SOCKS

Provide plenty—at least 18 pair. Should include Argyles. We have some beauties made by INTERWOVEN.

SHORTS

Either briefs or boxers—plain or fancy, or both. Needs a dozen. Select from our stock of ARROW and COOPERS.

UNDERSHIRTS

Needs a dozen. Also include white Tee shirts. We have both ARROW and COOPERS.

PAJAMAS

Should have about 3 pairs. Also needs a robe.

HANDKERCHIEFS

Will need plenty in both white and colored.

FOR FORMALS

Needs a tux shirt, fine linen handkerchief, both a black and a maroon bow, suspenders, cuff links (several pairs) black and maroon silk socks, black shoes.

Check over these items, too—cuff links, tie clasps, wallet, key case, gloves, key chain, belts (needs several styles), tie rack, sweat shirt, shaving kit case.

We know what college boys need and like. If your boy is going back to college, let us help him restock for the coming year.

Arlington Heights High School Announces Season's Bus Routes

Arlington Heights high school will transport approximately 850 students during the school year 1953-54. Any student living 1½ miles from school based on the closest possible and most practical route, is entitled to free transportation.

A student may live closer to school than 1½ miles, but if the normal driving route equals or exceeds 1½ miles, they, as well as other students beyond this point, are entitled to free transportation: and the school district may claim state aid for transportation. Students in borderline cases should contact the office of the high school principal for interpretation and ruling on whether or not they are entitled to free transportation privileges.

The board of education has added a new 60 passenger bus to its leased fleet. Waldo Tinsley, who operated the buses for the board of education last year, will continue to do so for at least the next two years under the existing contract between Mr. Tinsley and the board. Mr. Tinsley's services to the students and patrons of the high school district have been excellent, according to the board.

It is the hope of the school that the buses may operate on the following time schedule, however, route 11, bus 11, beginning at 7:10 a.m. will alternate with route 12 the second semester. The starting time of route 11 will be 7:10 for the first semester and 7:40 the second. Route 12 will start at 7:40 the first semester and 7:10 the second.

Routes may be changed from time to time if it is found that more students can better be accommodated by a change in routing. Students or parents wanting information on the routing, should call the high school office and ask for bus routes.

The following listing shows 16 routes arriving at the school in the morning from the various areas in the district.

Twelve buses will leave the high school in the afternoon at 3:17. There will be five buses at 4:10 for those students wanting to stay for activities or meetings. In addition, there will be two athletic specials carrying students to Mount Prospect and south rural areas and to Prospect Heights, Wheeling, and north rural areas.

Plans Fall Activities

August 20, board members of the Evening Guild of St. John's Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. R. C. DeZur, president, to plan fall activities. Chief among these is the third annual Thanksgiving ball, an event of wide popularity in this area. Mrs. Joseph H. Vavra, ways and means chairman, disclosed that the Elmhurst Country club will again provide the setting for this dance the night after Thanksgiving. Bill Walker and his orchestra will play.

Mrs. Richard Corn, vice-president and program chairman of the guild, announced that the first meeting of the group for the fall season will consist of a brief business session followed by games and a social hour. The meeting will be in the undercroft of the church Wednesday, September 16, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. J. Kemp Blackwell, membership chairman, informed the board of the plans being made by the Federated Woman's Auxiliary for the annual potluck supper which will be held Saturday night, October 24, at the Arlington Heights high school cafeteria. This get-acquainted supper and square dance is given to welcome new members of St. John's.

A Christmas bazaar is planned for November, to be held in cooperation with the other guilds of St. John's.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. DeZur served refreshments to the following: Rev. Thomas K. Chaffee Jr., Mrs. Edward D. Baumgartner, Mrs. J. Kemp Blackwell, Mrs. Richard Corn, Mrs. Richard H. Heineman, Mrs. Willard N. Nelson, Mrs. Kenneth W. Olsen, Mrs. Robert R. Stark, Mrs. James O. Turney, Mrs. Joseph H. Vavra, Mrs. Robert A. Waters, Mrs. William C. Wendling, and Mrs. A. Bernard Wood.

Bonnie Loy Wins Paint Store Contest

John Kehe, proprietor of Webber Paint Co., Arlington Heights, announced this week that Miss Bonnie Loy, S. State rd., Arlington Heights, won the bristle counting contest sponsored by the store at the recent 4-H Fair.

Miss Loy guessed that there were 16,090 bristles. Actual count, which delayed this announcement, revealed that there were 16, 280 bristles in the brush.

Miss Loy received enough paint and materials and/or wallpaper to redecorate the kitchen of her home.

Wilson Community

School Opening

School will open Tuesday, September 1, at 9 a.m. and will be in session for the full day, until 2:45 p.m. Regular school bus service will be available for those desiring it, at $4.00 per month per child, and Mr. Tinsley requests two months payment in advance, due the first week of school.

The service will be available only on a nine month basis. This is mentioned due to the fact that some students wanted to use the bus only during bad weather. The children should be at their bus stations at 8:30 a.m. For further information call Mrs. E. Neal, CL 3-6251.

Guests at Riverview

The Wilson School Patrol boys, accompanied by Mr. Parsons and Mr. Carroll, were guests of Mr. Barringer, manager of Riverview Park on Wednesday.

All-Day Meeting

Teachers of the Arlington area rural districts, which is comprised of Barrington, Palatine and Arlington schools, will hold an all day meeting at the Wilson school Friday, August 28. Miss Lucy Discoll, assistant superintendent of Cook county schools, will be in charge, and this will be a preparatory meeting for the '53-'54 school year.

The school budget was passed at the public hearing at the school on August 18, with several changes from the proposed budget as posted.

PTA Meeting

The first PTA meeting of the season will be held Friday evening, September 11 at 8 p.m. in the school basement. Parents of children entering Wilson school for the first time are cordially invited to attend and get acquainted.

Forest View Mothers Resume Meetings

The Forest View Mother's club will again resume its monthly meetings starting Tuesday, September 1 at the school, 8 p.m. The teachers are invited to this meeting and all mothers are urged to attend. There will be an election of officers and plans discussed for the coming year.

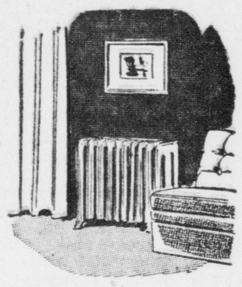
RADIATOR AN EYESORE!

Do you have a badly placed, exposed radiator that juts into your room and makes furniture arrangement difficult? There are a number of successful solutions to this problem. A simple one would be to conceal the radiator with a cover you buy or make of wood or metal, and then . . .



MAKE IT PART OF A GROUP

You can do this effectively by using open book shelves and cabinets that are the exact height of the covered radiator at either side of it. This way precious wall space will not be wasted. The same rules that apply to other groupings holds true here: The group must be functional, eye-pleasing, and be integrated with the entire room plan.

Presenting The Younger Generation

Vacationers

A toddler, 11-month-old David just began walking a month ago. He is a blue-eyed blond. David enjoys playing in the wading pool in his back yard with his sister.

Three-year-old Pamela has blonde hair and brown eyes. She likes to dance, and is looking forward to taking dancing lessons this fall. She attends Sunday school at the Methodist church.

Pam also enjoys playing with her dolls and likes to tag after her older brother and sister, Bobby, 9½, and Janie, who will be 8 years old in September.

The children's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward McElhose of Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wittenburg of Palatine.

Cowboys

Steve and Bob Brodnan, pictured next, have great fun playing cowboys together. These two boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brodnan of 116 N. Pine, Arlington Heights.

Six-year-old Steve is a blue-eyed blond, while Bob, who is three years old, has brown eyes and light brown hair.

Steve and Bob go to the park quite often to swim, and they also enjoy the swing set and sand box in their back yard. Steve will enter first grade at St. James school in September.

The boys' grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Millard of Muncie, Ind., and Mrs. Thomas Brodnan of Arlington Heights.

Little Brother

The youngest son in the John Kreiner family is little Jeffrey Kreiner, two years old, pictured next.

Blond-haired, brown-eyed Jeffrey likes to tag after his brother, Johnny, 4, and to mimic him. He has another brother Jay, 10, and a sister, Joan, 2 months old.

One of Jeffrey's favorite activities is pushing his little toy lawn mower. He enjoys playing in his wading pool and on the swings in his back yard.

The Kreiners live at 904 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Lonny Kreiner of Milwaukee is the children's grandmother, and John Dierbeck of Chicago is their grandfather.

The little boy in the last picture this week is Marshall Keith Blum, one of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blum, 615 S. Evergreen ave. Marshall, who is 18 months old, has light brown hair and dark brown eyes. He likes to "take care of" his baby brother, Robert, who is four months old. His older brothers are Alan, 11 and Gerald, 6.

Maternal grandparents of Marshall are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Moehling of Arlington Heights and his paternal grandparent is William Blum of Palatine.

YMCA High Schools To Open Eves Sept. 9

Central YMCA day and evening high schools begin the fall program the week of September 9 in new air-conditioned classrooms which occupy the first and second floors at 19 South LaSalle st., Chicago.

The oldest member of Central's school family, the high schools have been training young men and women for over 50 years. Today, the schools continue to feature an outstanding program which includes educational and vocational guidance, accredited courses, small classes and individual attention, and a year-around schedule of classes which permits completion of high school in three years.

The physical facilities, in addition to air-conditioned classrooms, include a fully equipped laboratory, library, student lounge, and modern, up-to-date typewriters and business equipment in the secretarial section.

Brides-to-be

The following marriage licenses were issued last week to residents of the north suburbs by Cook County Clerk Richard J. Daley:

Victor Raynor, Bernice Reilly, both of Des Plaines.

Richard Crandall, River Forest, Joanne Payne, Brinker rd., Barrington.

Lincoln Hollister, Barrington, Lenore Brewer, Palatine.

Joe Schimkas, Sr., Naomi Peterson, both of Des Plaines.

Henry Rennau, Joan Williams, both of Des Plaines.

John Fugina, Des Plaines, Joan Hedin, Chicago.

David Daugherty, Skokie, Betty Bockman, Des Plaines.

Ted Keller, Chicago, Sue Weckerley, Wheeling.

Higher Tax Levy

Libertyville village trustees have approved a tax levy for 1953-54 totalling $76,200, an increase of $6,000 over last year's levy.

The levy was made against a previously passed appropriation ordinance of $629,325, which set a ceiling on expenditures for the coming year.

Check Trees Before Buying

The cry of "Timber" can be exciting when lumbermen fell a huge tree. But it's quite expensive if the tree being destroyed is on your property.

That's why it's a good idea to check the desirability of the trees before closing a deal on the site for your dream house, advises P. C. Heintzman, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

And don't take just anyone's advice. A real estate salesman may be sincere enough when discussing that wooded tract, but he isn't necessarily an arboreal authority.

Trees can be undesirable because of such things as disease, serious storm damage, brittle branches, structural weaknesses and poor location. And many trees, while thrifty enough in growth, never make attractive ornamentals or may have such serious shortcomings that any tree of that particular kind is a poor bet.

A survey of home site trees before buying can mean a huge dollar saving. The bankroll takes a heavy beating when inferior trees must be removed before building begins.

Too often tree men are called to determine which trees are worth saving only after property has been bought. Sometimes, they'll find only two or three desirable specimens on a plot with as many as 50 trees. Invariably, the owners pay premium prices for the land. In addition, they face heavy charges for removal of the undesirables.

OPEN MONDAY EVENING TO 9 P.M.

HOT WEATHER FAILS TO STOP FOOTBALL PRACTICE PLANS

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

MONDAY, AUGUST 31 is an important sports date in Illinois this year. That is the first date organized football practice may be held according to the rules of the Illinois high school association. Most schools of this area will have physical examinations of players and the handing out of equipment late this week so that there may be no delay in getting serious workouts underway.

Boys must have 15 practices before they play in a game or scrimmage with another team so the opening date for games in Illinois is Friday, September 18. On that night Palatine will open at home against the Libertyville varsity and the Niles freshmen in a double bill.

Football at Palatine this year will have a new look. The Pirates will have a new coach in little peppery Charley Feutz who handled the frosh a year ago. Feutz will have very limited material from the team Dick Welty directed to the Northwest conference championship last fall, but the squad will have something Palatine has been lacking for years—team speed.

The Pirate backfield may be light but will have the most speed in the conference. The line will be green and will take seasoning.

Returning regulars who will greet the new coach in the first workout Monday will be Dick Meyer, 175, quarterback; Norman Stenzel, 155, halfback; Bob McKee, 150, guard; John Walsweer, 180, guard; and Bob Johnston, 175, center. Other squad members remaining from last year are Dale Christensen, Bill Breyer, Ralph Berlin, Paul Hess, Glenn Schiller, Don Hapke, Palatine will have some very fine juniors who last year were undefeated though tied by Wauconda as sophs.

A few boys from a frosh team undefeated in conference competition may move directly to the varsity in a year when most of the varsity material is inexperienced.

Helping Charley Feutz with the varsity will be "Gene" Moylan, a very smart football man and an expert at diagnosing weaknesses of opposing teams. Caude Bailey, aided by John Ellis, will again direct the sophomore team. Art Zimmer, who had cross country last year, will handle the frosh assisted by "Rusty" Dowell. Each of Palatine's three squads with two coaches will occupy a separate complete locker room set up in the new gymnasium.

Games will again be played at Community Park under the lights but the night has been shifted to Friday with the exception of the homecoming game, October 17, with Grant, which will be played on a Saturday afternoon.

ARLINGTON, which opens its football season September 19 at Barrington, has won only one grid championship, and that in the very brief Northeast conference among "the castoffs" . . . In the nine other years of the Northeast loop the Cardinals finished second in '47, third in '44, '43, '42 and '39, fourth in '46, sixth in '40 and 7th in 1941 . . .

In the West Suburban conference the Heights school has finished eighth (0-7) and fourth (4-3) . . . Won-lost record in league games over the 12 years of loop play is 33-37 with seven ties.

Palatine won its only football title last fall, placed second in '42, third in '51, '50 and '47, fourth in '45, fifth in '48 and '43, sixth in '46 and '44, seventh in '49 . . . Won-lost mark is 27-34 with one tie in 1951 . . . Bensenville won titles in '47 and '44, was second in '48, '46, '45 and '43, third in '42, fifth in '51, '50, '49, seventh last year . . . Won-lost mark is 30-23 with two ties.

ONE OF THE PRISONERS released by the Communists is George Darfler, Marengo high school football veteran . . . Bob Quillman, ball handing cager at Pinckneyville high school the past two years, is headed for Illinois Wesleyan.

Arlington Heights Legion will again honor its baseball team with a banquet Monday night, August 31, with Freddie Lindstrom, former major league star, featured speaker.

Annual Northwoods trip is on again for high school football players from Barrington . . . Eleven boys left last week for Ely, Minnesota, from where they were slated to go on a six day canoe trip . . . Slated to broadcast the Cub games next year is Ralph Puckett of Elmhurst . . . Don't shout or cry, it's simply Bert Wilson's real name used by him until a sponsor's request changed his moniker back in '41.

WEST SUBURBAN GRADUUTES listed on the football roster for Illinois are Herb Borman of Downers Grove; Paul Luhrsen of York, and Bud DeMoss of York . . . They represent center, guard and halfback . . . Approximately 366 high schools will participate in football in Illinois this year with 40 more planning six-man football.

Mike McDonald of Rob Roy was knocked out of the Cook county golf tournament in the first round matches after qualifying . . . Gene Lesch of Arlington golf club won his first match, but lost out later on.

The idea of leagues paying the entry fees in the recent Paddock golf tournament worked so well, the same policy is urged for all bowling leagues . . . This pro-rates the cost among all league bowlers from 30 to 60 cents apiece and makes a tourney berth more attractive.

Final Sign-Up For Midget Football At Arlington

All boys interested in the Arlington Heights park district midget football league must register in the auditorium of the fieldhouse no later than Saturday, August 29.

Directed by "Bus" Ormsbee, Bill Beckman and Carl Nelson, the program is designed to teach boys from the age of 10 through eighth grade the fundamentals of football.

THIS YEAR is the first time a football program has been sponsored by the park district. For this reason competition will be limited to teams playing each other within the program. In the future, as the program expands, it may be possible to compete against teams in surrounding communities.

"Learning fundamentals and rules of football at an early age, as well as the importance of team play and leadership, will contribute greatly to the success of any boy," stated program director Ormsbee.

Registration hours Saturday are at the fieldhouse between 10:30 and 12 noon. Initial practice will be held Saturday, September 5, at 1 p.m. on the high school field. This is a change from original plans due to conflict with the two day practice schedule of the high school squads on the same field.

Prospect Heights Little Leaguers Have Close Games

In direct contrast to last week's competition, when base hits seemed to be in order, Prospect Heights Little Leaguers came up with two closely contested games in Little League play at Prospect Heights.

The Red Sox nosed out the Cubs by a 3-2 score, chasing two runs across the plate in the final inning. Willard McDowell was the winning pitcher for the Red Sox, while Les Vaughan pitched for the Cubs.

The Braves beat the White Sox by an identical 3-2 score, and they also waited until the last inning to put the game on ice, when Fred Hedemark doubled to start the inning, stole third and then came home on an overthrow. Wally Borman was on the mound for the Braves and Dale Hedberg pitched for the White Sox.

The Cardinals shut out the Phillies 13-0. Tom Reinsma, making his pitching debut for the Cardinals, set the Phillies down with one hit while striking out six men. Mike Bourne paced the Cardinal batting attack with three singles.

Wins Evans Scholarship

Daniel Stephan, 18, son of Rev. and Mrs. Luther V. Stephan, Arlington Heights, recently won an Evans scholarship to the University of Illinois.

The scholarship is granted by the Western Golf Association to honor caddies. It is based on attainment at school as well as character development observed during several years of caddying.

The Western Golf Association maintains a chapter house on the campus of the university known as the Evans Scholar House. Daniel will reside here with other Evans scholars.

The scholarship is granted on a yearly basis and is renewable each year. Daniel is entering the pre-law school.

Daniel caddied at Rolling Green country club five years, where Matt Jans is the pro and has always been "fathering" the young caddies.

Daniel attended Concordia college preparatory school in Milwaukee and is 18 years old.

Jack Sieburg Leads Legion Nine Hitters

by BOB FRISK

Hitting at a .400-plus pace for his last eight games, Jack Sieburg, the Arlington Heights Legion nine's center fielder, captured the 1953 batting title with a respectable mark of .342.

The leaders throughout most of the season, Wayne Hesch and Charley Verret, ranked second and third among the regulars with .328 and .313 averages respectively.

Bob Harrington, reserve outfielder, batted at a .389 clip but was up only 18 times.

Verret led the squad in homers with two and runs batted in with 21 and tied for the top in doubles with three. Rog. Thomas slammed out three triples for the lead in that department.

AS A TEAM, Manager Lloyd Meyer's outfit hit .266 and boasted a 16-won, 5-lost record for scheduled games and a two-won, one-tie mark in exhibitions.

Pitching wise, Dave Ryden, who has yet to meet defeat as a hurler, owned a 7-0 slate while southpaw Mike Shanklin compiled nine wins in 14 decisions. Bob Dotts was credited with one win.

A big American Legion youth dinner is set for Monday, August 31 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Peter Lutheran school activity building honoring players on the legion team, their dads, Manager Lloyd Meyer and the representatives that attended Boys' State. Freddie Lindstrom, former major league star, will be guest speaker.

Palatine Softball Team Wins Four

Palatine's softball team had a great week as they won four games with one game coming in a tournament. They now have an 11-6 record for the season.

They started off the week by beating the Chicago Blue Jays 3 to 0 and then beat Naperville in the Marengo tournament, 9 to 1.

Sunday, the Oak Park Amvets traveled to Palatine and were beaten, 6 to 1, as Bob Lee hurled his goof ball at them and allowed only four scratch hits. Their one run was unearned.

AT MARENGO, Dick Heiden held Naperville under control as he tossed a three hitter in Palatine's first game in the tournament.

Tuesday night, the Maywood Bombers had the unhappy experience of coming to Palatine to suffer a terrific defeat by a score of 21 to 0 as Dick Heiden pitched superb ball to allow one single. Palatine scored in every inning, four in the first, six in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth, three in the fifth, and five in the sixes. It was called at the end of the seventh inning.

THE AURORA Rowdies will be at Palatine Sunday night, August 30 at 8:30.

The following merchants contributed to the evening's entertainment: Kehe's Market, a box of groceries; Pierce's, 3 pair nylons; Country Cobbler, $5 in trade; Palatine Pastry Shop, $5 in trade; Palatine Liquor, $5 in trade.

Amvets Lose 13 - 12

Wheeling's Amvets lost 13 to 12 in the 16" ball game in ten innings in the scheduled 9 inning game played against Buffalo Grove in Long Grove last Sunday.

Next Sunday the Amvet team will play Tracto-Motive at the Amvet diamond in Wheeling at 1:30 p.m. (S

Arlington And Bensenville Plan Physicals, 1st Practices

The 96 degree weather Wednesday and prospect for more of the same Thursday didn't stop "Bus" Ormsbee of Arlington Heights and Tom Meneguin of Bensenville from outlining plans for initial football practices Wednesday morning.

With the state association permitting the first day of workouts Monday, August 31, the head grid mentors at both schools are ready for a fast start.

Arlington Heights high school will open its season Saturday, September 19, at Barrington, with a West Suburban league game with Downers Grove, the home opener under the lights, scheduled for Friday night, September 25.

Bensenville high school will play host to the Leyden Jvs under the lights Saturday night, September 19, before opening Northwest league play a week later.

AT ARLINGTON physical examinations are scheduled for all hopefuls, including freshmen, for Friday, August 28, between 9.00 a.m. and 12 noon. All candidates are to report to the sophomore locker room with entrance at the north side of the new gym.

This is the only scheduled time for physicals. All boys must be passed by team physician H. J. Carr before they will be allowed to report for practice.

All varsity candidates are to report to the varsity locker room Saturday between 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. for locker assignments and final check on equipment. First practice will be held Monday, August 31, at 9:00 a.m. Varsity hopefuls not checked in with senior manager Don Hutchinson are urged to do so immediately for locker assignment and equipment.

FROSH - SOPH candidates report for equipment Saturday, August 29, at 2:00 p.m. Their first scheduled practice will be at 9:00 a.m. Monday, August 31.

Frosh football equipment will be issued at 10:00 a.m. Monday, August 31, with official practice starting that afternoon. All incoming freshmen must report for their physical exams the same time as the other squads, August 28. This year the frosh will start their schedule earlier than usual opening September 24th with Glenbard at Heights.

Parent's permits must be signed as well as physical exams completed before any will be allowed to attend practice sessions.

THE COACHING schedule at Arlington this year finds "Bus" Ormsbee and Bill Beckman leading the varsity, John Ligon and Dick Mudge mentoring the sophomores, and Curtis Larsen and Carl Nelson coaching the freshmen.

This year's schedule, in addition to Barrington and Downers mentioned above, finds the Cardinals playing LaGrange at home October 3, traveling to Glenbard October 10, coming home to meet Riverside at homecoming October 16, going to York October 24 entertaining Hinsdale October 30, and playing at Maine in the final November 6.

DOWN BENSENVILLE way all high school boys interested in trying out for either football squad are requested to be at the school Monday morning, August 31, at 9 a.m. Coach Tom Meneguin will announce practice schedules at that time.

Meneguin will stress conditioning the first few days of workouts with equipment to be handed out at a later date. Physicals will probably be given Tuesday, though exact information on this will be announced Monday morning.

Coaching the Bisons this year will be Meneguin, assisted by Frank Novatny. The frosh-sophs will be led by Paul Henry, new member of the faculty from Pecatonica, Illinois. He'll also teach mathematics and science.

NORTHWEST conference football will revert to an eight school schedule this year with the return of Northbrook to the league, this time in the name of Glenbrook high shcool. League play will start the week end of September 26.

Ela-Vernon will probably not be able to start school until the latter part of September, but practices will be held on schedule with the prospect of playing games before classes start in the offing. With the construction of a new gym, and conversion of the old one into classrooms there has been a delay in remodeling.

Redwings Trip Glenview, 8-4

The Redwings beat Glenview naval air station Sunday, 8-4, putting the game on ice in the eighth inning with a three run blast climaxed with Connie Hernbrott's homer with two on.

Hernbrott also made the first hit of the game when he singled, went to second on Gail Bach's safety, but was caught when Lloyd hit one to the infield. Bob Spinks singled, scoring Bach and Lloyd.

Glenview tallied once in the fourth on two singles, but the locals came back with singles by Willie and Lang and regained the margin.

IN THE FIFTH Glenview tied the score on an error and two walks. Bob Spinks walked to start the sixth for the Redwings, and scored when Hal Stange, Earl Simpson and Willie singled. Stange also tallied.

A walk and a single for Glenview made it 5-4 in the seventh inning, but then came Hernbrott's homer after Simpson was hit by a pitched ball, Willie was on via a fielder's choice, and Art Scheiwe singled.

On the mound for the Redwings was Paul Lang.

This Sunday the Arlington Red Wings play the Olympic Savings at Recreation park. They have won 13 straight games.

Next Sunday the Skokie Indians play the Stanfa Scouts. Each last lost one game, so the winner will play the Olympic Savings for the championship, probably September 6.

The Red Wings are at full strength again with Dick Lloyd back at shortstop and Art Scheiwe back at his catching position. The Red Wings, although out of the playoffs, will try to break the Olympic Savings winning streak, so a battle can be expected. Bill Stratton will be on the mound for the Red Wings.

Arlington Heights Little League Yankees on TV

Members of the Yankees, one of six teams in Arlington Heights Little League, landed in front of the TV cameras for interviews Monday of this week on the "Breakfast With Danny O'Neill" program.

Jack Cordaro, one of the Yankee coaches, plays the clarinet with "The Adorables" group on the program, and was instrumental in getting the boys on TV. Jack formerly played with the Paul Whiteman band.

Fourteen Caddies Make Honor Rating at Rolling Green

Fourteen caddies made honor rating at Rolling Green country club last week with ten boys slated to receive Western golf association honor badges. Final ten will be selected from among the ones who made the rating this year and those who made it last season.

This year's group: Richard Anderson, Bob Busse, John Butts, Roger Engelking, Denny Evans, Norbert Flowers, Bob Getts, Wayne Haemker, Bob Hammerl, Roger Johnson, Tom Muran, Miles Nelson, Fred Steingraber, Tom Stephan.

A group of 24 caddies watched the Cubs-Braves baseball game at Wrigley Field August 14 as both the Cubs and Western golf association. Don Odbert, caddy master at Rolling Green, directed the group.

Community Bowlers to Open Season Sept. 2

Community bowling league of Palatine will begin competition at Hi-Way Recreation Wednesday, September 2, at 7 p.m. All bowlers are urged to be present.

Nearly 500 of the finest young model plane fliers in the United States and Canada put their planes aloft in the "Olympic games of model aviation," Plymouth Motor Corp.'s seventh international model plane contest, August 19-24. The contestants, all invited on the basis of outstanding records in local and state-wide contests, are competing for $4,000 in cash awards and 200 beautiful trophies.

Braves Wallop Glen Ellyn 11-5, In Little League Tilt

By the Dad of
A Little Leaguer

In the very first season, the caliber of competition in the Arlington Heights Little League is remarkably high. The six-team loop is packed with young future baseball stars . . . some of whom may some day wear big league uniforms.

A recent exhibition game—the first by an Arlington Heights Little League nine—proved that.

The Braves, who are in third place in the Arlington Heights circuit, walloped a Glen Ellyn Tigers aggregation that included top players from other teams in its league, 11-5, at Recreation park last Saturday.

Pitching one of the best games of the season—and helping his own cause with a triple—Johnny Weisenbach struck out 13 Glen Ellyn players with his whistling fast ball and held them to six hits.

Johnny's batterymate, Allan Sander, the Braves' hardest hitter, and Shortstop Billy Spomer led the Braves' attack with two hits apiece.

DANNY RAUPP'S homer with two men on only made the result more definite Wednesday night in the Arlington Heights Little League as his Cardinals dealt the Yankees their second loss of the season, 7-1.

The losers could garner only one hit, a single by Buren. The Yankees tallied their loner in the third inning. The Cards scored one in the first, two in the second, one in the fourth, then three in the fifth.

Losing pitcher Dennis Schumacher fanned ten, twice as many as winning twirler Danny Raupp, but the payoff is in runs.

Monday night the Braves dumped the Cardinals, 8-2, gathering in three runs in both first and fourth frames, then adding two more in the sixth.

Willard Meyer homered for the Cardinals in the last inning. Al Sander did the same for the winners, also in the fifth. Danny Raupp struck out seven, walked three, permitted eight hits, and took the loss. Dennis Antman fanned nine, walked three, permitted four safeties, and received credit for the victory.

Center Prospects Solid For Illini

Center of the line should be solid on University of Illinois' 1953 football team. Not only does Coach Ray Eliot have an adequate supply of veteran guards, he has a pair of excellent prospects at center.

Expected to stage a two-man battle for the starting center assignment are letterman Herb Borman, Downers Grove, and junior Jack Chamblin, Robinson, a transfer student from West Point. Behind them are five promising sophomores.

Borman is typical of small, hard-hitting players who have handled both linebacking and center assignments for Illinois teams of recent years. Only 6-0, 185 pounds, he was a regular linebacker during 1952 season, but has also displayed offensive ability. He played offense in 1951 when center Dan Sabino was sidelined by injury.

Chamblin, an all-state fullback at Robinson in 1948, was shifted to the line at West Point. He stayed at center after transferring to Illinois, and his play during spring practice was impressive both on offense and defense. Chamblin is a little larger than Borman — 5-11, 195 pounds.

Newcomers face a tough climb to oust either Borman or Chamblin. However, they will stage a battle of their own for traveling squad berth.

Kruse Holds Edge In Tuesday Golf

There was no change in the standings of the first three teams in last week's play of the Mt. Prospect Twilight League, Tuesday division.

All three of the first place teams won nice victories, all retained their positions. Next week is the last night and actually it promises to be such a hot contest we believe we could sell tickets for it.

Heine Kruse can still smile, but not for sure, because his boys won an eight point victory to retain their lead over Mt. Prospect Electric one and a fraction points.

O'DAY REALTORS won seven points and are still in third place, breathing down the neck of the first two teams.

Golden's Food Shop, last year's winners, moved up to fourth.

Bob Louthain, the Kruse team's leading player, birdied the 11th hole. Bill Hartman, another Kruse player birdied the 15th and 18th. No wonder those boys are hard to discourage.

Red Barrow and Fred Erickson, the two main reasons why the Mt. Prospect Electric team is in second place, birdied the 18th and 14th. Other birdie shooters were Bill Lovell and Bob Whitely.

Standings August 18:

Busse-Biermann Takes First In Wednesday Golf

Tempers were frayed and blood pressure was high as the lead changed hands again in the Wednesday night division of the Mt. Prospect twilight golf league. After the smoke had cleared the record showed Busse-Bierman Hardware, league dark horse, in defeating Annen & Busse 7½ to 2½ had collected enough points to take over first place.

Barclay-Clearbrook Engineering, who had held the top position but a short two weeks, were retired to second after absorbing a 4 to 6 trimming by Kirchoff Insurance.

Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes came through with another sensational victory in defeating Busse Motors 9 to 1 and thereby moving into third place. This team will bear watching as they are plenty hot. Their opponents in the next match and, incidentaly, last of the season will be the league leading Hardware team and the final standing of the entire league will be affected by its outcome.

Birdies scored were by M. Weber, No. 3; Dick "Wingy" Wistar, No. 9; Bob Hornbostel, No. 10; Len Johnson and Geo. O'Day, No. 13.

League standings August 19:

Busse-Bierman Hardware	94 3/4

Dove Season Opens Sept. 1

Again this year we can expect to see a certain number of poor sports who will give all dove hunters a bad reputation by shooting turtle doves on roadside telephone wires. Some of them will be so depraved they will not even get out of the car to shoot.

The dove season opens September 1 a half hour before daylight. It was only because of some strenuous activity in the state legislature by the Illinois federation of sportsmen's clubs that there is any season at all this year.

It is the duty of every good sportsman to do everything in his power to stop the very unsportsmanlike tactics of the wire shooters.

Name All-Time Screwball Nine

There have been plenty of screwballs in the history of baseball—and from them, People Today chooses an alltime screwball nine and profiles each player in an article in the current issue. The following are some of the goofiest incidents in each man's career.

Catcher: Smead Jolley, Chicago White Sox—In one game, Jolley raced up an embankment behind home plate to catch a foul, overran the ball, was crowned by it as he fell down coming back. "You taught me how to run up that damn hill," he complained to his manager, "but not how to come down!"

1st Base: Zeke Bonura, Chicago White Sox—When line drives were hit at him, he waved his glove at them helplessly like an elderly lady flagging a bus. His base running was such that he once hit a home run to achieve a single.

2nd Base: Louis Olmo, Brooklyn Dodgers—In 1944, Olmo played 2nd for two games, made five errors, stopped a ball with his Adam's apple, couldn't speak for a week. The Dodger manager got a note from the Cuban screwball: "Send Olmo back to outfield, no? Or Olmo go back to Havana, yes?" He went back to the outfield.

3rd Base: Hank Schuble, Detroit Tigers—One day Hank, who couldn't hit a curve, was standing at the plate when a teammate on 3rd broke for home. The enemy pitcher slammed a ball into his catcher but Hank stepped in, took a mighty swing and knocked the ball over the fence. "It's the first straight ball I've seen since I got into this league," he explained later, "and I just couldn't resist taking a whack at it."

Shortstop: "Barber" Bill Urbanski, Boston Braves—"Barber," an All-American out at the plate, a scatter arm in the infield, got his nickname because of his ability to keep up a line of running chatter while playing. One day he dropped a fly, booted a grounder, juggled a line drive, then yelled across the infield, "Ata go, gang! Let's tighten up out here."

Pitcher: "Boom-Boom" Beck, Brooklyn Dodgers—One day the hitters mashed all his first inning pitches against the right field fence. When Manager Casey Stengel went to the mound to relieve Beck, right fielder Hack Wilson flopped down in the sun for a rest. Angry Boom-Boom threw to right field as he stalked off the field, Wilson jumped up as the ball hit the fence, pegged to 2nd.

Right Field: Babe Hermah, Brooklyn Dodgers—Babe caught pop flies on his head, ran bases with a smouldering cigar in his pocket. One day he took his son, 4, to the ball park to watch him perform, had a sad time, and forgot to pick up Junior after practice was over. When his horrified wife reminded him, he raced back to deserted Ebbets Field, found Junior in the bleachers, still waiting for Daddy.

Centerfield: Lou Novikoff, Chicago Cubs—The "Mad Russian" came to the Cubs in the '30's, fell into a batting slump. "Lou can't hit a lick without 'hoopsa'" said his wife, explaining that 'hoopsa' was his favorite Russian food. She cooked 'hoopsa' then, and had it flown from San Francisco to Chicago—but it was a dud so far as Lou's hitting was concerned, and he went back to the minors.

Family Dog

Probably the question most often asked by prospective dog owners is "what is the best breed?" People who are getting a dog for the first time are often bewildered by the large number of separate and distinct breeds of dogs from which to choose but there is really no "best breed." By nature all dogs are friendly and affectionate and with good health, care, understanding treatment and proper training will practically without exception develop into desirable pets, no matter what the breed. Moreover, the best breed for you may not be the best breed for someone else.

One consideration of great importance is the environment where the dog is to live. If your home is a two-room city apartment you would hardly want to choose a pup that will take up most of the room when he is fully grown. Large dogs also require ample amounts of exercise and though some apartment dwellers do keep big dogs it is often because some member of the family likes to do a lot of walking and takes the dog along for exercise.

USUALLY THE best type of dog for small living quarters is one of the medium size breeds. Even in the suburbs, where there are close neighbors or laws against dogs running at large, which don't seem to mean much as far as your editor has observed, a dog that doesn't require a great amount of exercise usually fits in. On a farm, large estate or in open country areas, the choice of a dog is merely a matter of what you like or can afford.

The coats of some breeds need more than ordinary care if they are going to be kept looking their best, so that should also be considered. White dogs in places where there is an extraordinary amount of dust and soot will need baths often, and as a rule frequent baths are not good for a dog's health.

ALSO, REMEMBER where the children are involved they are inclined to pick the first puppy they see, so, before starting out to choose a family dog there should be a conference and a discussion of the type of dog that will best fit in with your mode of living.

Hepatitis

A mysterious dog malady, labeled Hepatitis X, and Infectious Canine Hepatitis, which has been well known to veterinarians for some time, should not be confused with each other, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center.

The former, reported as 100 per cent fatal, had two outbreaks in 1952 among dogs of seven south-eastern states but has not been prevalent since, even in areas where it occurred, it states. Infectious Hepatitis, on the other hand, was established as a definite virus disease in 1947, its probable route of infection and source of spread determined, and vaccines which give immunity, or often help as a cure, developed.

At the Cornell laboratory for diseases of dogs, studies determined that Infectious Hepatitis is not an air-borne disease (like distemper) but is spread from dog to dog by contact with an infected animal through feeding utensils, urine, etc. An infection of the liver, fast-acting Infectious Hepatitis brings high temperatures and is about 10 per cent fatal. In so-called Hepatitis R, on the other hand, there is normal temperature, a loss of vigor from listlessness to prostration—a condition resembling intoxication that culminates in death.

Barks and Bays

After reading an article in the newspaper the other day about large families your editor started to think about some rather large canine families that he has heard about. "Smokey" a Foxhound from Bosqueville, Texas, left 446 sons and daughters when he died at the age of nine.

Also, I have mentioned from time to time about various individuals who have taken their dogs to church. In the great door of the 14th century church at Cornwall, England, there is a special opening at the bottom for dogs to enter and also to leave, I suppose, when the sermons become rather dry.—Looking back over summer vacations and stops at various motels brings to mind that according to a recent press release there is a Double EE Ranch out in Santa Monica, Cal., which caters to dogs only and which boasts of a private swimming pool for,—you guessed it, dogs only.

Among the 12,000 men who participated in the largest and most extensive training exercise since World War II was navy Lt. (j.g.) Patrick J. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Barrett of 512 Banbury rd., and husband of Mrs. Joan T. Barrett of 1130 Patton ave., all of Arlington Heights, aboard the destroyer USS Uhlmann.

The exercise was code-named DESTRAEX and the units involved made up task force 12. A unit of the first fleet, the task force consisted of two cruisers, 15 destroyers, four submarines, two destroyer tenders, and a fleet oiler.

A visit to Seattle was a breather for the task force. The 24-ship armada, joined by 12 destroyer escorts from the 11th, 12th, and 13th naval districts paraded single file over a 12-mile course along the shores of Elliot Bay as a part of the Seattle sea fair.

In Korea

Cpl. Robert W. Neumann, USMC, husband of Mrs. Doris Neumann, Palatine, and son of Mrs. Emma Neumann, Arlington Heights, recently was awarded a bronze star medal and citation for action in Korea.

"For meritorius achievement in connection with operations against the enemy while serving with a marine infantry battalion in Korea from 26 March to 3 April 1953. Serving as battalion radioman, Corporal Neumann displayed exceptional ability, initiative and professional skill in the performance of his duties.

"During the assault and subsequent defense of an enemy held combat outpost, he maintained radio communications between the assaulting elements and the battalion command post. He successfully kept his radio in operation for over fifty continuous hours without sleep. Although exhausted, he fearlessly accompanied an officer to a combat outpost that was subjected to a devastating hostile barrage of artillery and mortar fire.

"When the enemy launched a vicious counterattack upon the position, he dauntlessly manned a machine gun and still managed to sustain the vital radio communications. Expressing complete disregard for his personal safety he exposed himself to enemy fire in order to repair land line communications.

"Corporal Neumann's resourcefulness under fire, outstanding attention to duty and indomitable spirit served as an inspiration to all who observed him and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Alert telephone girl helps track down bank bandits

Two fugitive bank robbers were holed up somewhere in Chicago. This the FBI knew. But where in the big city was their hide-out?

A clue to their whereabouts was a telephone call the robbers made to a woman accomplice in Florida. "Could this call be traced?" the telephone company was asked.

You've probably heard of the many instances where Illinois Bell operators helped locate people, especially in connection with Long Distance calls. But, this time, of course, the calling telephone number wasn't known. With thousands of Long Distance tickets written by operators each day, this search seemed about as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack.

Mrs. Florence Neary, an Illinois Bell Claims Department girl, set out to work with enthusiasm—and judgment. Reasoning that the most likely spot for the bandits to lie low was served by Illinois Bell's Central Division in Chicago, she went there. With the assistance of the Accounting Department, the search through the tickets was rewarded with the right one. And presently, acting upon her information, the federal men found the fugitives' hide-out and arrested them.

Mrs. Neary's desire to be helpful is characteristic of the attitude of all telephone men and women. No matter whom you're dealing with, no matter what you ask, you'll find them eager to do what they can for you!

Miss Service Representative says:

"You may never call upon us to help track down bandits. You will use your telephone, however, for mighty important calls. Yet, your telephone service is taxed at luxury rates. The excise tax you pay on each Long Distance call (over 24¢) is 25% . . . in addition to the 15% tax you pay on your local service. One dollar for every six of the average telephone bill is for Federal Excise Tax.

"If you have any questions about the tax portion of your bill, or any questions about your service—whether it's about ordering an extension, rates, moving your telephone, getting an extra listing in the directory, or nearly anything, please call on me.

"You see, I'm a 'Service Representative,' which means I'm your personal representative at Illinois Bell. Of course, I may not be able to answer every question immediately. But I'll get you the answer as fast as I can."

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS
NEWS FOR THE FARMER
Carl F. Mees — Adviser and Editor

Farmers' Sports Festival on TV

After working 12 or more hours a day all year long, farmers in Illinois need a little relaxation. Saturday, August 29, the "Farmtown, U.S.A." television show will present farmers who "relax" by chopping wood, tossing the shot, and engaging in tug o' wars.

Master of ceremonies George Menard's guests will be participants in the Illinois farm sports extravaganza being held August festival, an annual athletic ex- 27-28 at the University of Illinois campus in Champaign.

Thousands of farmers will gather in Champaign to display their skill in dozens of sports and demonstrations of skill. The cream of the crop will be invited to appear on the "Farmtown" show.

"Farmtown, U.S.A." is presented by the Illinois agricultural association, sponsors of the festival, and the Pure Milk association. It can be viewed at 5 p.m. (CDT) over station WBBM-TV, Channel 2.

Two Lamb Crops A Year Proves Impractical

Applying present "know-how" to sheep production rather than shooting for two lamb crops a year offers the best chances for profits.

U. S. Garrigus, in charge of sheep work at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that efforts to get two lamb crops a year from each ewe have not been very successful.

At the same time, experience and research have provided enough knowledge about feeding, breeding and management to enable most sheep men to produce many more pounds of lamb and wool from each ewe.

THESE METHODS have been tried in an effort to produce two lamb crops a year on a practical basis:

1. Use of such breeds as Rambouillet, Merino and Dorset, which have a tendency to breed out of season. This method may give about three lamb crops in two years.

2. "Flushing" yearling ewes in April and May. A wheat or rye pasture, together with a grain feed, has been successfully used to get from one-half to two-thirds of ewes carrying considerable fine-wool breeding bred in the spring. A Dorset ram has frequently been used. This system seems to be more useful in getting fall-born lambs than in getting two lamb crops a year.

3. USE OF hormones. This method can be used to a limited extent for producing lambs for research purposes, but it is not practical for producing out-of-season lambs, Garrigus says. The correct dosage for a given ewe is not known, and apparently different ewes require different dosages. Cost is fairly high and the effects, if any, on a ewe's future performance are not well known.

4. Changing the relative number of hours of light to which a ewe is subjected each day. This method is only in the experimental stage and seems unlikely to be adapted to practical farm use at present.

The Illinois sheep production project and farm bureau farm management service records show a wide variation in the production efficiency of various flocks, Garrigus says.

This means Illinois producers can still produce many more pounds of lamb and wool from each ewe than they are producing at present by using good planning in their feeding, breeding and management.

Good Management Prevents Calfhood Pneumonia

Research and farm experience have shown that good management will save more calves from pneumonia than drugs will save through treatment.

A University of Illinois veterinarian, Dr. L. E. Boley, says it's usually moisture and not cold that spearheads calfhood pneumonia problems.

Many pens and stables are calfkillers because they're poorly ventilated. But if calves are kept dry and the quarters well-ventilated, temperatures can drop to zero or 10 below without causing trouble.

Boley recently advised a McLean county dairyman to move calves out of damp, dark, hard-to-ventilate stalls. He suggested adding more windows or a fan to increase air circulation and reduce moisture.

Need Storage For Corn Crop To Get Top Price

Adequate storage for this fall's corn crop will enable farmers to get a much better price for their corn.

Wheat farmers were taking as much as 50 cents a bushel under the loan price at harvest time when lack of storage forced them to sell, reminds Capper's Farmer.

But farmers short on storage space are saying: "Where, exactly, will we put all the corn. With 400 million bushels now sealed on farms, we still have to find room for what promises to be a fair-sized crop."

MOST LENDING agencies consider storage structures good investments, points out the farm magazine. The government has extended for another year the loan program under which you can borrow up to 80 per cent of the cost at four per cent with four years to pay.

You can reseal your old corn this year for delivery next year, and collect a resealing payment of 13 cents a bushel. Thats fairly good "rent" for crib space.

Many farmers have built, or are building, pole cribs at little cost, the magazine adds. One Iowa corn grower built a structure to be used for corn storage and as a hay self-feeder. The sides are built like a feed manager, leaving an 18-inch opening which can be boarded up when corn is stored.

There's time to put up a multi-purpose building to be used now for corn storage and later as a farrowing house, brooder house, two-car garage, or machine shed.

DON'T OVERLOOK the possibility of converting all or part of an unused building to bin or ear corn storage. The latter will require some equipment for artificial drying.

However, remember that these buildings will need some remodeling, states the farm magazine. They have probably not been built to carry the high pressures on side walls which result from grain storage.

Regardless of the design or construction material your corn-crib should: Provide for either natural or forced ventilation: protect against weather, rodents and theives; and maintain quality for a two- or three-year period.

Record Cow

With 15,437 pounds of milk and 603 pounds of butterfat to her credit, Florem Peerless Lucy, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Ray E. Meyer, Roselle, has completed a 365-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 10 years, 7 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 20 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

For Protecting Walls

ANOTHER use for an old rolling pin is illustrated by courtesy of the professional builders' magazine, American Builder.

The rolling pin has been installed at the top of a ladder to be used in painting a house. It has been covered with a piece of carpeting glued in place.

Other operations required to make this improvement, which simplifies the moving of the ladder and prevents scratching the wall, include the drilling of a hole through the center of the pin, lengthwise, and the insertion of a long threaded rod or bolt. Washers and jam nuts are then attached to hold the rolling pin firmly in place.

Prevent Shipping Fever in Cattle

Treat your incoming feeder cattle just as you would treat guests arriving at your home after a long trip. Feed them lightly, bed them down, keep them comfortable and let them rest.

The analogy can stop there, but the point is that, unless new feeder cattle have good care, they're apt to come down with shipping fever.

R. D. Hatch, veterinarian with the University of Illinois warns farmers not to turn feeders into alfalfa, clover or other lush pastures as soon as they arrive. Chances are they were on range pasture and received coarse hay on the trip. Turning them into lush pasture is inviting bloat trouble.

Instead, give them plenty of water and start them out on coarse hay. After a short period you can turn them out on bluegrass pasture.

Milk Pipelines at Dairy Day Sept. 10

Illinois dairy farmers and their families attending the second annual dairy day in Urbana September 10 will see a cow-to-cooler milking system featuring pipelines that are never taken down for cleaning.

The University of Illinois dairy scientists aren't neglecting their jobs in not taking down the pipeline. But they've found a way to clean it in position, which eliminates the need to dismantle it. The system lends itself to the production of top quality milk too.

Special exhibits and tours will acquaint visitors with other dairy research projects and with the University's dairy herd.

Headlining the afternoon speaking program will be Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Kline will size up the farming picture, with emphasis on the future of dairying.

Meeting time is 9:30 a. m. (DST) Thursday, September 10, at the main dairy barns, South Lincoln ave., Urbana.

Vote For Wheat Quotas, But Still Have Problems

In approving marketing quotas, wheat producers have retained the privilege of getting price supports for another year at a high level. They have also made a rigid agreement that carries stiff penalties for violation. But, more important, they have not found a permanent solution to their problem.

The problem of big stocks may be just as pressing a year or two years from now. The 62 million acre national allotment may stop the build-up of our wheat stocks but not reduce them unless we have low yields.

WITH AVERAGE yields and 62 million acres planted, our 1954 wheat crop would be about 1,000 million bushels. This would at least meet one year's domestic needs as well as prospective export needs. Thus carry-over stocks on July 1, 1954, and on July 1, 1955, could be 700 million bushels, enough for one year's domestic needs.

To reduce these stocks will require further acreage reductions, droughts or expanded markets. An expansion in markets seems likely only if we price our wheat at competitive levels in world markets or as livestock feed.

CORN NEXT. The law requires the secretary of agriculture to hold a referendum on corn marketing quotas when the prospective supply exceeds the "normal supply" by more than 20 per cent. On the basis of August 1 crop estimates, the prospective corn supply of 4.1 billion bushels for the 1953-1954 feeding season may exceed the current "normal supply" by more than 20 per cent. With liberal allowance for consumption and exports, the present "normal supply" as defined by law would appear to be no more than 3.3 billion bushels. Our prospective total supply exceeds this figure by 24 per cent.

Large corn stocks have developed mainly as a result of two good crops, price supports and reduced feeding of hogs.

As of October 1, 1953, the government will own about 600 million of the 800 million bushels of old corn. More than 200 million bushels of this corn is from the 1948 and 1949 crops. By October 1, 1954, carry-over stocks may increase to 1,000 million bushels.

REGARDLESS of the merits of grain reserves, we must recognize these facts:

1. To prevent further increases in corn stocks will require acreage reductions, droughts or expanded markets.

2. To expand the market for corn, it must be priced so that livestock producers will feed it.

3. Government-owned stocks must eventually be put back on the market, and the selling of these stocks will depress future prices.

4. These large stocks, which have been accumulated through the corn program in prosperous times, may be a depressing factor on grain markets when economic conditions are less favorable.

Hours for Milking

Dairymen, if you would rather milk in the cool of the day—say at 5 in the morning and 7 in the evening—go right ahead. Tests show that no harm is likely to result.

You can get just as much milk during the hot, summer months when milking intervals are changed from every 12 hours to one interval at 10 hours and the other at 14.

MORE FERTILIZER

The greatest increase last year was in the North Central states, but the South Atlantic, East South Central and West South Central regions used practically half of all plant food used in this country.

THURSDAY, AUG. 27, 1953

Improving Pastures Not Costly—It Pays

"It doesn't cost to improve pastures—it pays!"

That statement by a east central Missouri farmer sums up what many farmers in his state think of improved pasture. More than half a million acres have been renovated since the Missouri pasture improvement program got rolling.

Jimmy Low, Missouri cattle feeder, told a Capper's Farmer editor during a recent pasture tour on his farm, "My pasture will pay me more than a 100-bushel corn crop this year."

LOW PASTURED 260 head of steers on 150 acres of improved alfalfa, bromegrass, ladino and timothy last spring and this summer. Eighty acres of improved pasture seeded three years ago made him more than 500 pounds of beef an acre last year. Others in the state have hit as high as 800 pounds of beef an acre.

"The cost of pasture improvement always scared me until I tried it," says dairyman Oral Bigler, "but it paid me back better than 7 to 1 the first year."

Bigler's records show it cost him $35 an acre to apply the 259 pounds of actual plant food per acre called for by soil test. His 12-acre improved pasture returned $3,000 in extra milk and feed, or more than $250 an acre, the first year.

"WHAT IS THE secret of high pasture yields?" Capper's Farmer asked the experts.

"There isn't any," says Arnold Klemme, University of Missouri extension soils specialist. "It's just a matter of doing the right things at the right time."

"Applying enough fertilizer so soil fertility is not a limiting factor is one of these major items. The others are seeding a recommended pasture mixture on a good seedbed and proper management of the stand.

"There's no one fertilizer that has proved superior for high pasture yields," explains Klemme. "It's supplying the total amount of plant food needed by the particular soil that's important."

YOU CAN GET the plant food needed in many different forms, states the farm magazine. Rock phosphate is the cheapest source of phosphate in the long run. Muriate of potash or mixed fertilizers are the usual source of potash. Soil tests will indicate the amount of each needed, in addition to lime requirements.

Once you get the right balance of limestone, potash and phosphorus, nitrogen becomes the key. Extra nitrogen really gives pastures a boost. It gets pastures off to an early start in the spring, making a longer pasture season.

Forage from nitrogen pastures is much higher in protein. Often 100 pounds of actual nitrogen (300 pounds ammonium nitrate or equivalent) on a pasture will bring back as much as 1,000 pounds of extra protein an acre.

Nitrogen and clipping have proved to be the best weed control measure farmers have tried. Nitrogen keeps the grasses growing vigorously, which tends to crowd the weeds. Clipping during the summer months takes care of weeds that survive.

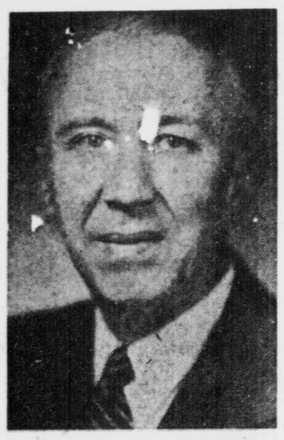
Fertilizer Use at Record Level in U.S.

The 13th annual survey of the use of fertilizer in the United States shows that last year American farmers, gardeners and lawn-keepers used an all-time record amount — 22½ million tons.

Specialists of the department of agriculture, who conducted the survey, point out that the five states making up the South Atlantic region continue to lead in total tonnage of plant food used.

But the use of fertilizers is expanding rapidly in the North Central States. And tonnage used in the five states of the East North Central Region is fast approaching that of the South Atlantic states.

First Guest Speaker For Lutheran Hour



The Rev. Dr. Lawrence Acker, pastor of First Lutheran Church of Omaha, has been named the first of a series of guest speakers who will address the vast international radio audience of The Lutheran Hour each week.

The Rev. Acker will be presented officially to a congregation of 25,000 at a gigantic Lutheran Hour rally, Sunday afternoon, September 27, at the Chicago stadium. This rally will inaugurate the 21st consecutive season of boroadcasting for this program, known as "Bringing Christ to the Nations."

On that day Dr. Acker will also deliver the first sermon of the new season to a world-wide audience of 20 million listeners who will hear these weekly religious broadcasts in 56 languages over 1,257 stations in 58 countries.

All loves should be simply stepping-stones to the love of God.

Lessons In .... English

by W. L. Gordon

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "I don't like these kind of books." Say, "I don't like this kind of books."

Do not say, "There is a third alternative." This is impossible, because "alternative" means a choice of only two things.

Distinguish between the phrases, "Differ from" (to be different) and "Differ with" (to disagree with). "One building differs from another." "He differed with his employer."

Do not say, "He performed on the violin." You don't really mean this. Better say, "He played the violin."

Do not say, "No one knows better than her why he was indicted by the jury." Say, "No one knows better than she."

Words Often Mispronounced

Bonhomie (good nature). Pronounce bon-o-me, first o as in on, second o as in no, e as in me, accent last syllable.

Halcyon. Pronounce hal-si-un, a as in at, i as in it, accent first syllable.

Forehead. Pronounce for-ed, o as in on and the h is silent.

Brochure. Pronounce bro-shur, o as in broke unstressed, u as in use, accent second syllable.

Effete. Pronounce e-fet, first e as in bet, second e as in feet, accent second syllable.

Frequent (adjective and verb). Accent adjective on first syllable, the verb on second syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Maintain (verb); tain. Maintenance (noun); ten. Blameable; retain the first e. Excusable; drop the e. Pray (to entreat). Prey (to raid for booty). Arrange (to put in proper order). Arraign (to accuse; censure). Intelligible; three i's and three l's. Emerge (to come out of). Immerge (to plunge into anything).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Profusely; bountifully. "Nothing is given so profusely as advice."

Ludicrous; adapted to excite laughter; ridiculous. "I found myself in a ludicrous predicament."

Pinnacle; the summit, or highest point, of anything. "Few men have reached the pinnacle of success."

Sanguine; disposed to be hopeful; anticipating the best; as, "sanguine of success."

Mundane; pertaining to the world; worldly; earthly. "He did not concern himself with mundane affairs."

Commendation; praise. "The soldier received commendation from his officers for the work he had done."

Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

—I Cor. 13:3.

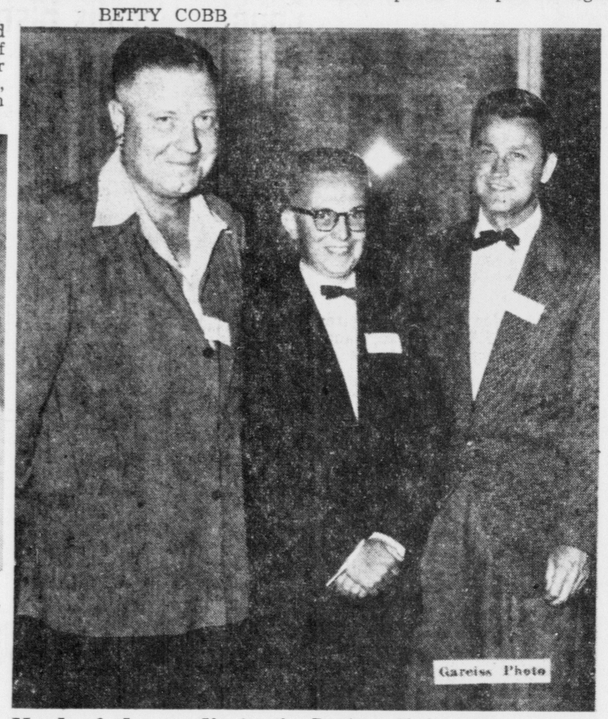
The handy, U-shaped kitchen in the Readers' Choice home will be popular with Arlington Heights women who visit the model home at 215 West Orchard ave. after its opening. The oven is built-in at the far left, and the refrigerator is built-in directly opposite. The background in the picture shows the sliding glass partition which serves as a wall between kitchen and dining room, or can be opened as a pass-through for easier serving. The breakfast bar, also in the background, is convenient for quick meal service.



Much of the credit for the Readers' Choice home presented to the public this week by Better Homes and Gardens magazine goes to these three men. William Trude, left, heads the Trude Land Development company, builders of the home. Architects were Gerald A. Siegwert, center, and Brooks Buderus. The home is located at Chestnut and Orchard on Arlington Heights' far south side.

Tiny model planes were zooming, diving and climbing out of sight at Selfridge air force base, Detroit, as Plymouth motor corporation's seventh international model plane contest got under way. Competition was keen in this "Olympic Games of Model Aviation," which wound up August 24, with nearly 500 of the top model fliers of the United States and Canada striving for top honors. Pictured during competition is Walter J. Brownell, 20, 607 S. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect.

The Braves of Milwaukee have been the surprise of the year in major league circles. In the Prospect Heights Little League the Braves are at the bottom, but it's not due to lack of spirit. They've won three of ten games, and are tied with the Phillies.

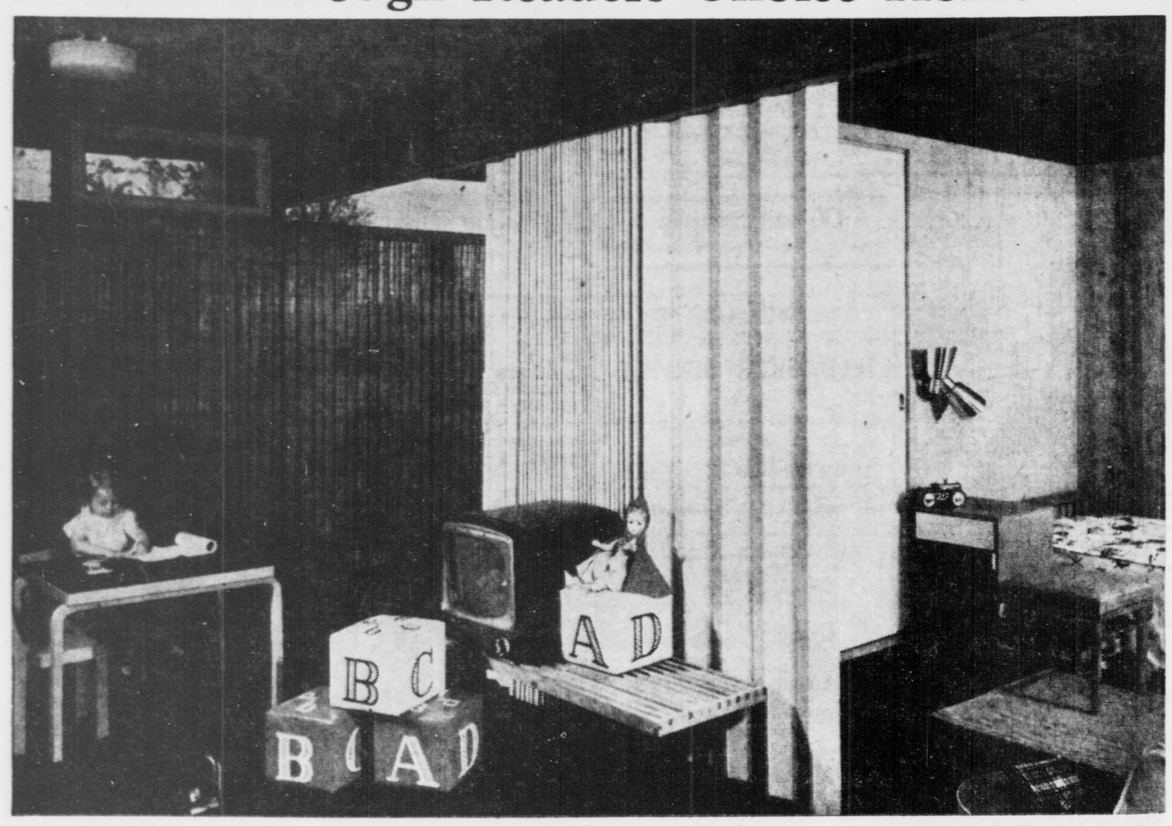
A Tour Through Readers Choice Home



There's plenty of room to lay out a railroad yard for an electric train, or to "play house," in the play area of the children's room in the Readers' Choice Trude model home at Chestnut and Orchard on Arlington Heights' far south side. Closed off by "accordion style" partitions are the sleeping areas, separated from each other by wardrobe closets.

TAKING A TOUR of the house, the visitor enters through the double garage, one complete wall of which is devoted to a home workshop equipped with Delta power tools. It is pointed out that the incorporation of the workshop into the garage, in this basementless house, allows the home-owner-carpenter to keep his power tools away from any general family recreation area, and to leave a project before completion without the necessity of cleaning up.

Off the garage is the utility room, housing two air-conditioning units for the home, one for the sleeping section, one for the service section. There is a gas fired forced air heating plant, a water heater which produces water at two temperatures, 180 degrees for the dishwasher and clothes washer, 140 degrees for other uses. Also in the utilities room is the automatic clothes washer and dryer, and generous built-in cupboards.

Next to the utility room is the kitchen, incorporating the housewives' favorite U-shaped work area. Here are some of the more revolutionary features of the home—the waist-high oven built into the wall; the counter-top burners, doing away completely with the conventional stove. The exterior wall of the kitchen is all in glass, with two panels movable for ventilation. A fan also helps in control of excess heat and cooking odors.

CABINET TOPS in the kitchen are in white, of Micarta, a material which the builder claims is more wear resistant than any hitherto put on the market. The standard "upper-lower" cabinet design has been followed, with the lower cabinets in natural finish birch, the upper cabinets with sliding doors of Marlite in alternating panels of yellow and white. One wall of the kitchen is taken up with a breakfast bar, with ample seating for four persons, facing through the sliding glass partition, the terrace room and the beautifully planted patio beyond.

Remaining space in the living-service wing of the home is given to the living room, 20 x 16 feet. Here the cold and almost clinical appearance common to so many "modern" homes seems to have been avoided completely—possibly because of the warm colors used on the walls, in the carpet and upholstery. A fireplace in red brick, in the mantleless modern manner, extends the brickwork completely to the ceiling. One wall, topped with clerestory windows, is of peg-board, allowing an almost limitless variation of shelf, picture, and bracket arrangements. Another wall, completely of glass, looks out onto the colorful front patio. Also, because of the open design of the house, those in the living room can have a view of the rear patio, through the glassed-in terrace room. One unique item in the living room worthy of mention is the built-in television set in a corner cupboard. This set is placed on a swivel, so that it may be viewed from the living room, or turned for viewing from the terrace room.

THE MASTER bedroom in the house has been treated by the decorators as a combination sitting-room and sleeping room, following the trend of many designers to gain maximum use from every square foot of floor space. Here twin sleeping couches have been placed at right angles to each other, freeing as much floor area as possible. During the daytime, these couches slide halfway beneath built-in cabinets, converting them to settees. The cabinet fronts provide backrests for the settees, the cabinets have ample space for storage of pillows and bedding.

There are two bathrooms in the house. Off the play area in the children's room is a small bathroom, with glassed-in shower stall. This is the bathroom with the skylight, which inevitably draws comment from every viewer. Off the master bedroom is a dressing room, with a wardrobe closet that is huge compared to most of those being included in contemporary homes, a built-in dressing table, and a lavatory sunk into the counter which tops a large built-in chest of drawers. Off this dressing room is the second bathroom. Both baths are done in ceramic tile. Floors throughout the house are black concrete.

AS IMPORTANT to the overall design of this house as the indoor rooms is the outdoor living area. Fenced off for privacy is a small, beautifully planted patio in the area surrounded by the children's room, terrace room, and living room. Its counterpart, on the opposite side of the terrace room, leads into an outdoor play yard, a sandbox which is flush with the ground, and a barbecue area complete with benches sufficient to seat a number of guests.

In exterior appearance the house is probably one of the most unusual yet built in Arlington Heights. The street side presents large areas of stained wood, glass, and colored panels. However, there is complete privacy, with the glass-walled areas shut off from public view with attractive fences. Light and ventilation from street-side walls are obtained by the use of clerestory windows.

This readers' choice home is one of 39 which have been built throughout the country for Better Homes and Gardens. All will be open to the public for the first time tomorrow.

Landscaping of Model Home A Major Job

Those who see the color pictures in this month's Better Homes and Gardens of the house at 215 West Orchard ave. may wonder how flowers could be blooming so luxuriantly in this latitude at a time when the trees were not yet fully leafed out. But the neighbors in the area, who were interested spectators throughout the building, could tell them. The plants were all in full bloom when they were set around the house, early in April.

Selected for landscaping the home was William Dean, landscape architect of Park Ridge. Plantings were made by the Clavey Ravinia Nurseries, who were able to furnish everything from the expanses of geraniums to the twisted crabapple trees in the front yard.

But what causes perhaps the most comment is the birch tree which grows through a hole in the roof. It is doubtful if the architects had any such thing in mind when they designed the home—but there it was, a sizable opening in the roof between the garage and the glassed-in area of the kitchen. It provided an interesting play of light and shadow across the front of the house.

Watching the planting operations, William Trude, head of Trude Land Development company, builders of the home, suggested that a tree be placed to grow through this opening. He went further to suggest birch, since its bark would provide a pleasing contrast to the darker wall behind it.

The tree was put in place, with considerable effort on the part of the landscaping staff, and now seems to serve to tie the house to its setting. Quite possibly the architects wish they'd thought of it themselves.

Many Persons Took Part In Selecting Design Of Home

The Readers' Choice house at 215 West Orchard ave., opened to the public today by Better Homes and Gardens magazine, is just what its names implies.

Before architects ever put pen to paper, a panel of four couples representing different professions, different age levels, and different income groups, gathered in Chicago to discuss what they wanted in a home. Their one common resolution was to build a home within the next year or so. Their discussion lasted for six hours, and a transcription filled 170 typewritten pages.

It was after this discussion had been distilled and the essence of what readers wanted in their homes was disclosed, that Architects Brooks Buderus and Gerald A. Siegwart set about drawing up plans for the Readers' Choice home, which is being duplicated in other parts of the country.

Good Police Work

For the first time in twelve years of residence in Arlington Heights we recently were confronted with the need to call for assistance from the local police. The results were so gratifying we feel that they should not pass without notice.

It could not have been more than three minutes after our call when Patrolman Dieball arrived at our house followed very shortly thereafter by Sergeant Johnson. With only the information gathered from a very much upset child, these two officers located, apprehended, questioned, and obtained a confession from the guilty party, and had a formal complaint prepared and signed in less than three hours.

Words cannot express our gratitude to these two officers for their speed and efficiency in carrying out their duties while at the same time being extremely courteous and helpful in a very trying situation.

Although these two officers stand out in our minds we cannot overlook the rest of the force on duty who undoubtedly had a part in co-ordinating the action, nor can we overlook the interest of the chief of police who left a vacation to report in to be sure all was well and the police magistrate who willingly left his home at a late hour to complete the necessary legal papers.

The facts we have had no occasion to call on the police in twelve years in itself speaks highly for an efficient police force. The work of that police force we have recently witnessed has more than convinced us the people of the village of Arlington Heights are very fortunate.

Grateful,
Arlington Heights

4-H Fair

You deserve a medal for the wonderful compliment you handed the boys and girls for their fine work in the 4-H Club fair at Arlington Park. It is the best editor's column you have produced this year. I know now that I missed a lot by staying away from the farm and home exhibit. Believe me I am planning to be there next year.

Glenview Increases Water Tank Capacity

Glenview's proposed new water tank had its capacity increased to one million gallons.

The village board approved the recommendation of the water committee to have plans drawn up for a million gallon tank costing $235,000. Previously, a 750,000 gallon tank costing $195,000 had been planned.

Death Of Pioneer Arlington Heights Cobbler Recalls Historical Events

The death last week of Peter Hartmann, pioneer cobbler, who made boots and shoes for some of the early residents of this community, recalls a bit of history.

Mr. Hartmann was nearing his ninety-second birthday when he died. The Civil War was in progress when he came to Palatine in 1862 and four years later to Arlington Heights. He celebrated his wedding to Miss Bertha Pankanin October 6, 1887, by opening his own store which has been operated continuously since that time.

Many readers of this paper will be interested in the conditions under which he learned the trade in Germany, emigrated to the United States and worked hard to establish his own business.

The following story is taken from the files of this paper:

"The story of the life of Mr. and Mrs. Hartmann would be called uneventful if it did not portray the industry of two German emigrants and their success in the country of their adoption.

"Mr. Hartmann was born in Germany December 21, 1861. When young Peter was confirmed at Lautenbach, Germany, aged 14, his father got him to learn to go out. For three and a half years, he was apprenticed to a shoesmith and made shoes and boots. Mr. Hartmann 'got merit' from his teacher, and was duly awarded an official degree to practice his cobbling trade wherever he chose.

"But he had reached the age where German military service was required. It was ordered that he should leave his home, Witsenheusen, for Kastel, which is now part of Mainz. There he would receive his military training.

"Meanwhile, his mother's relatives in America had sent on papers for the family of seven to join them in this country. In June, 1881, the family sailed from Bremen and arrived in New York 12 days later. Mr. Hartmann checks his coming with Garfield's shooting. 'I even know the man's name who shot him—it was Gillium who shot the President of the United States'."

However, even when the Hartmanns arrived in Chicago, a shoemaking position could not be found for Peter. His uncle got him a temporary farming job in Franklin Park, Dixon, Ill., but Mr. Hartmann was not too enthusiastic. "I stood by my trade," he says, and he left the farm after a month.

"During 1882, Mr. Hartmann worked for a shoemaker, a Mr. Scheir, in Tinley Park, then for four years he worked under Fred Grebe in Palatine. He arrived in Arlington Heights in 1885. For 1½ years he was employed by Henry Bolte.

"Hartmann's store became a reality in 1887. Mr. Hartmann stocked it with shoes, and ran it by himself. It was he who began the custom of actually measuring the feet of farmers to fit and make them boots and shoes. 'The boots with seams up the side,' he explains. He even put cleats in them, as have present golf and football shoes.

"Perhaps the achievement of which he is most proud is the advertisement he composed for the Herald about 1900:

There was a man in our town,
He was so wonder-wise,
He walked the street by Hartmann's store,
Walked in and got his size . . .
Folks saw, asked where he got his shoes,
And they were so surprised,
They walked right into Hartmann's store,
And then they got their size.

"It was not his first ad, but it typifies the good will of Mr. Hartmann."

American Gives Experiences With English Socialized Medicine

Dr. Jeannette P. Nichols, sister of the owners of Paddock Publications, who is lecturing in an English college this summer, recently met with an accident, requiring hospitalization and medical treatment in a London hospital.

In place of the story of English life she had agreed to write for publication, she sends the accompanying story of her personal contact with socialized medicine.

London, Aug. 20, 1953
American Embassy

Dear Mr Editor:

Through the kindness of friends at this Embassy, I am able to type out a left-hand letter to you. Your readers may be interested to know the actual truth about how "socialized medicine" works.

Suddenly I found myself raising my head from the pavement in the middle of Marylibone (pronounced "marlibun") Road, facing the opposite direction from that in which a Britisher was going in his little automobile.

Miraculously, the violent twisting of my body by the impact had broken no bones—but it had gashed the doorhandle deep into the flesh of the right hand, opening up a large chunk, like a weinie roll, lying on the road beside me.

The driver behind my "assailant" stopped without striking me and the two helped me hobble, blood streaming down my dress, to a nearby clinic.

There two doctors and a "sister", British term for graduate nurse, temporarily tied together the two parts of the hand, asking why I neither cried or became unconscious.

I told them I had to keep self control so as to be able to tell them my hand must be saved, so I could use it again.

Then a funny thing happened. They were all binding me up and I asked "Where am I?" They said, "In the London Clinic." I answered, I'm so glad I am in a hospital, instead of a nursing home (British term for a very exclusive private hospital) because, British friends have told me the hospitals, having a larger clientele, have the greater experience and skill."

The attending surgeon began to laugh, "My dear lady, the London Clinic is the largest, most exclusive and most expensive nursing home in all of London!"

After due apologies, which he took with good grace indeed, I explained that all I wanted was a superb effort to mend my hand, and where had I better go? He phoned the great St. Mary's hospital, one of the very largest teaching hospitals in England. A teaching hospital is one with its own medical school.

Then two ambulance men helped me into their vehicle (which does no horn blowing in London)and on the journey took the particulars to report to the police.

As I had obtained the name and address of the car's driver at the clinic, I could give the police a little data. Under British law the driver need not report the accident, to the police, if he identifies himself to the person struck or the hospital where the "struckee" is first taken. The Clinic made not the slightest suggestion of a charge for their services; also, the ambulance use was free.

At St. Mary's, all the expert machinery of socialized medicine continued to move in my behalf. First, anti-tetanus injection, with a careful reminder to me that this injection was effective one year.

Then a group of doctors and nurses and sisters, undoing the first aid bandages, conferring, summoning a surgeon, taking x-rays of the left leg, which had been hideously bruised.

The surgeon, believing me when I asked him to look me straight in the eye and tell me the truth, did make me happy with, "Please shut your eyes and tell me exactly what I am doing."

Then he touched each finger in turn and I was able to tell him what he was doing. The verdict — "Though the tendons are exposed, none are actually cut, vital nerves have not been destroyed and the wrist tearing has nevertheless not cut important blood vessels.

Eventually, if all goes well, you will regain the use of your right hand, I believe."

I put up a silent prayer of thanksgiving. The surgeon agreed that the sooner sewing occurred, the better, but did not know whether a "theatre"—operating room—could be obtained before afternoon.

Soon an American friend, summoned at the suggestion of the ambulance men, arrived and was with me when I was wheeled on a stretcher to a freshly painted, pleasant ward, where nurses (nurses are those who are still in training) got me to bed, my friend carried off my valuables for me, and then came a superb example of historic "British courtesy."

Every woman at that end of the ward who could get out of bed came to my bedside in turn. "Won't you have a biscuit"? (A sweet cracker). "Won't you have one of my sweets"? (A piece of candy). "Have you got a flannel"? (A washcloth). "Won't you have a cup of tea?" Tea had been offered me the instant I entered the clinic and besides the five regular times they get it in the wards the patients make it themselves a couple more times.

They instructed me about the radio program available through earphones at each bed: when the board supporting my right arm slipped, everybody ran to pick it up, etc.

Even the sun, helpful, shone that day through the row of southerly windows faced by my bed. And the surgeon managed to get a theatre by 12:10, and after the agnoy of cleaning the hand was over, and the local anaesthetic and penicillin were in, he agreed (against the sister's objections) that I could watch him put in the stitches, for I often have wished I had become an M. D. instead of a Ph. D. and LL. D.

Thereafter, a long succession of stuff, beginning with sulfa and penicillin and continuing with aureomycin to counteract the bloodpoisoning, with lots of dope to deaden pain, different for daytime than night, taught me what watchful care British medicine gives everyone.

When I left the hospital they refused money, with this reply, "All that we want to know is whether you have been well-treated."

And through the days following, regularly the hand is dressed and watched over, with repeated warnings to "come in instantly, any hour of the day or night, at the slightest suggestion of any bad sign."

Of confidence that their extreme care is saving the use of the hand, I have much. Already a few stitches (10) have been taken out where healing spots appear, and eventually the whole 25 will surely be got rid of, all with the matchless solicitude which we in America associate solely with the trusted, family physician, caring for the patients known to him through the years.

Such has been my actual experience in a major accident. Can you be surprised that I am happy to express appreciation of "socialized medicine"?

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Some time ago, an enterprising young girl named Mary decided to go into the antique business. Each spring she would take off from her Milwaukee home to scout the countryside for interesting and saleable pieces and in the summer and fall would renovate and sell them from her home. After a couple of years, her husband was transferred to Chicago and though Mary left her antiques to buyers in Milwaukee, she brought all her enthusiasm for the business with her. She and her husband and little girl settled in Highland Park, near her family and married sister, Harriet.

It was not long before she had interested her sister and a friend in starting a business here. They found an interesting, old Victorian house—just perfect for housing antiques—and set about redecorating it.

Each room was done in an attractive, tiny pattern, provincial paper and in the room that was formerly the kitchen they hung gay, red calico, cafe curtains.

Acquiring enough stock to start business was a job, but before long that was accomplished and each room was filled with antiques and used furniture, and all that remained to be done was to paint the shutters of the house red and hang out their sign—"The Red Shutters"—what else?

I DROPPED BY the other day to see how the business was going, and thought I wouldn't get a chance to talk with Mary for a few minutes, for the number of customers coming in and out and the telephone ringing. So, I browsed around, and upstairs saw a pretty little old fashion bed that would be just right for Megan, and a lovely walnut chest of drawers.

When I did have a chance to talk to Mary, I inquired about Harriet.

"She's on vacation right now, so I'm working full time."

"What do you do with your little girl while you're here?", I asked.

"Mother's taking care of her for me. My sister has two and when she's here one of us comes to work every other day, while the other stays at home and takes care of the children."

"Say, Mary," I exclaimed, "if all of the people I see coming in and out are any criterion, you certainly must be busy!"

"WE REALLY ARE. We sell especially our used furnishings almost as fast as we get them. Also, people call us about selling their furniture, so we don't have to go looking for stock any more. We even have turned down calls about antiques, because we are so crowded and like to keep only the choicest of these.

"We do have to keep a complete second stock, however, to take care of times like just the other day, when we had a few busy days and almost cleaned out two rooms downstairs."

"Where in the world do you keep a second stock?", I asked incredulously.

"In Mother's garage," she laughed.

A very suburban-looking housewife in her grey flannel peddle-pushers checked shirt and loafers came toward us, carrying an antique, inlaid wood jewel box and, not wanting to hold up a sale, I hurriedly said goodbye to Mary and left "The Red Shutters."

My love,
Patty.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

Even if we have to stay here in these dreary United States, we are becoming just too terribly international by proximity. We have almost hourly bulletins reaching us from England and France and now we have just had a long report on the Philippine situation from natives of Manila.

We must admit that the visitors to our shores were not formally introduced to us.

A chance remark heard behind us stating that things at our metropolitan department stores were about four times cheaper than goods in Manila caused our head to snap around and our mouth to say that we didn't think there were higher prices anywhere outside of Russia than ours.

Those in this country who worry over the price of a new car can now stop worrying. They are getting them dirt cheap here in comparison to the car prices in Manila. No cars are manufactured in the Philippines, but all cars imported have a fifty percent tax on them. Wow. And we worry about that little old three percent.

We now have viewed the last word in abodes as it was our pleasure to be invited to preview the Better Homes and Gardens home on the south side of Arlington.

We liked all that we saw and there were even parts of it that we felt that old conventional us could even live with. The dressing room off the master bedroom is the last word in elegance. The turret top window in the bathroom which serves as a skylight would fascinate at least two of our youngsters who could mount a space gun there.

The dining room with the movable Thermopane windows makes eating outdoors an everyday affair and the children's room complete with sliding partitions is wonderful. Our only question on the play room is whether it will take the banging that a good old fashioned basement will.

All in all, the visit caused us to go home and look at all of our early second hand furniture and our walls which are tastefully decorated with various fingerprints with a very jaundiced eye.

Most child psychologists who write reams and reams on the behavior of today's youth must do so from a large very isolated soundproof penthouse very high in the center of a very large city. These pedantic bores certainly never get nearer to the little ones of the world than looking at the advertisements for baby food in magazines.

Certain written words of advice that have dripped from their pens has caused us to either laugh hollowly or grind our teeth in futile rage.

However, the other day we read the words of one advisor in the ways of children with pleasure. She agrees with us therefore, she is very, very bright. The gist of her column was that parents of this nation continually scream for better movies, less horror in TV, and more soothing radio for the kiddies.

If parents don't approve of certain pictures, crime TV, and noisy shooting by Sam Spade, why don't they keep the youngsters home from the movie, change channels on the video set, and turn off the radio she asks. And so do we.

Art Fiesta Sunday

Would you like to visit Greenwich Village for a day? Then come out to the home of Miss Paula A. Kryseztop, 6603 Higgins rd., Sunday afternoon, August 30, from 2 to 5 p. m., when the regent art league will present an Outdoor Fiesta of Fine Arts.

Members' paintings will be formally displayed, hung from brick walls, fences, and even from trees.

Admission is free. In case of inclement weather the exhibit will be held the following Sunday.

Among league members are Emmet and Signe Post of Palatine.

Final Production At Chevy Chase

"Without Love," a delightful bit of sophistication by the able playwright Phillip Barry, which opened at the Chevy Chase summer theatre Tuesday evening is the final presentation of the season. The Sunday night show of August 30 ends the fifth successive year.

Heading the present cast are talented Barbara Moro, pretty Mercita Vesely, Rob George and Richard Woosley. All are regular members of the Chevy Chase ensemble company.

Urge Kids To Use Safety To School

A predicted 2,000 children under 14 will be killed on their way to and from school during the coming term. Thousands more will be injured, many for life.

But it need not happen to your children if you take the responsibility for getting them off to school with a safe start.

WORK OUT and use the safest route to and from school with your child, taking into consideration not the shortest distance, but rather the safest crosswalks, and available traffic police protection.

Where there is no policeman, teach the youngster to stop on the curb, look both ways, and watch for turning traffic before walking across.

If it is necessary for your child to walk on a roadway, teach him to walk on the extreme left edge of the road, always facing traffic.

IMPRESS your child with the need for obeying all traffic officers, school crossings guards, school safety patrols or mechanical signs and signals.

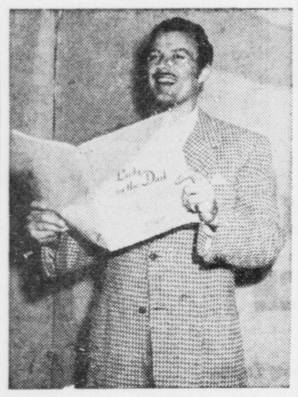
Insist on no playing in streets, alleys, or driveways.

No roller skating to and from school.

No hitching rides on motor vehicles when cycling to and from school.

If an older brother or sister is accompanying your younger children to and from school, go over the route with both children and insist on reponsibility from the older one, and recognition of authority by the younger one.

'Lady in the Dark' At Music Theater



"Lady In The Dark," the New York smash hit now playing every evening through Sunday, September 6, at the Music theater, has become an even bigger hit than it was on Broadway in the intimate surroundings of theater-in-the-round.

"Lady In The Dark" is the story of Liza Elliott, a successful New York career woman who spurns romance to be the editor of a fashion magazine. By the revelation of her inner thoughts through fabulous dream sequences to her favorite psychiatrist, Dr. Brooks, Liza finally learns about her real "suppressed" self and eventually falls in love.

Gems of Thought

LOVE

Love cannot be a mere abstraction or goodness without activity and power.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

You can take nothing greater to the heathen world than the impress and the reflection of the Love of God upon your own character. That is the universal language.

—Henry Drummond.

Love is to the moral nature what the sun is to the earth.

—Honore de Balzac.

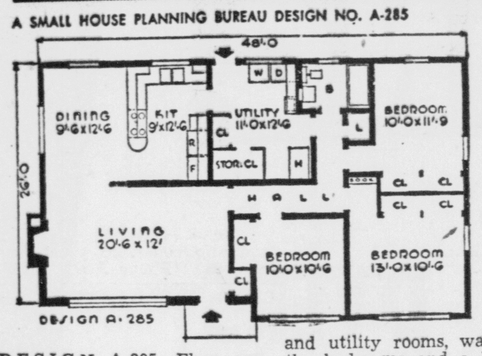
A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. A-285



DESIGN A-285. Floor construction consists of an insulated concrete floor slab on a gravel fill, with floor covering of carpeting and asphalt tile or linoleum. The floor plan includes living room, three bedrooms, combination kitchen-dinette, bath and utility room.

The utility room consists of a large storage closet, supply cabinet and space for laundry and heating equipment. Storage space includes coat closets in living and utility rooms, wardrobes in the bedrooms and a linen cabinet.

Cabinets separate the kitchen and dinette, and a folding door closes off the living room. Exterior walls are finished with shingles, brick facing in front, and plywood in the front gable. Floor area is 1,297 sq. ft.; cubage, 14,915 cu. ft.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it necessary for people who meet often during the course of a day to bow and greet each other every time?

A. No, this is wholly unnecessary. A smile or glance of recognition after the first meeting is all that is necessary.

Q. Is it ever excusable to keep the mouth open while chewing food at the table?

A. Never. The lips should be kept closed while chewing. And this is not difficult if only small bites are taken.

Q. Is it proper to mail engraved announcements of an engagement?

A. This is not customary. Usually the engagement is announced by the girl's parents at a tea or party, or by newspaper announcement.

Q. Is it necessary for a man to rise when dining alone, and another man stops at his table?

A. If there is no great difference in age, it is not necessary. If the man who stops is elderly, then it is courteous for the younger man to rise.

Q. If a girl is entertaining a week-end guest and she is invited to some social affair, is she privileged to bring her guest with her?

A. Only when permission of the hostess has been asked in advance.

Q. At a public dinner, where the speaker's table is long and narrow, should the chairman or toastmaster sit at the end of the table?

A. No; he should sit in the center, at the side—the principal speaker of the evening at his right.

Q. Is it necessary, when taking leave of a group to which one has been introduced, to bid each one "good-by" separately?

A. No. A cordial "good-by" with a smile that includes everyone is all that is necessary.

Q. Is it considered good usage for men to speak of wearing a "white tie" or a "black tie," instead of referring to "full evening dress" or a "dinner coat"?

A. Yes; these terms are often used in good society.

Q. To whom should a bride show preference, if any, in choosing her maid-of-honor?

A. The bride's sister usually has preference. If there is no sister, then she chooses her most intimate friend.

Q. When one is a guest at a small dinner, should one accept a helping of every dish offered?

A. Yes. We all have our likes and dislikes, but at a small dinner it is embarrassing to the hostess when a guest refuses a dish. One can always manage at least a small quantity.

Realtor Wins Case For Shopping Center

The Herzog-Kuntze Realty company of Des Plaines has done it again—beat the city in court. This keeps the Herzog batting average of winning cases against the city at 100 percent. And again too, the decision rendered in favor of Herzog was from Judge Harry Fisher, who is fast becoming Des Plaines "zoning nemesis."

Judge Fisher decided Des Plaines was wrong in not granting Herzog his request to have 600 feet along Algonquin road by slightly more than 200 feet deep along Wolf road (southeast corner of Wolf and Algonquin) zoned commercial for a shopping center. The Judge pointed out that the local ordinance specifying newly annexed land as automatically residential was invalid. Such was the case when that strip of land was annexed a few months back.

He also stated that since the land is located on an arterial highway it should be commercial. The Judge pointed out that even though the area across the street was residential that did not constitute reason to keep the land in question residential. He said the people that bought homes on Algonquin road, in the Manilow subdivision, should have realized the risk of buying near possible commercial development.

Fisher further stated that there can be no restriction on commercial development to one district in a city, it must be located throughout the city to serve all areas. Based on these findings he ruled against the city which means Herzog can build the shopping center.
